State mulls GPS-tracking of govt doctors

KARTHIK K K & NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Mysuru/Bengaluru

IN a controversial move, the state government is planning to introduce a GPS-tracking system for government doctors who come under the Directorate of Medical Education in the state.

Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said the aim of the initiative is to make the doctors abide by the rules as there is an increase in the number of complaints against government doctors practising privately during duty hours.

The minister was speaking after chairing a two-day divisional-level progress review meeting of the Health and Medical Education Department in Mysuru.

"As we were receiving complaints of doctors being irregular, we decided to implement 100 per cent biometric attendance system making it compulsory for doctors to mark their attendance at three intervals. However, there is a technical glitch. We are now thinking of introducing geo-tagging facility and talks are on to enforce a total ban on private practice by government doctors," said Dr Sudhakar. PM suggests common police uniform

CHANDAN NANDY @ New Delhi

SETTING the cat among the pigeons, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday urged states to consider what he called the 'One Nation, One Police Uniform' policy, a potentially controversial move that is not likely to go down well with non-BJP state governments.

Addressing the Ministry of Home Affairs-led Chintan Shivir on internal security in Faridabad, Modi said, "Take your time. Take five, 50 or even 100 years, but do give this proposal a thought. This would give a single identity to the police." Under the Constitution, police in general and law and order in particular are state subjects.

Predictably, Opposition-ruled states adversely reacted to Modi's idea with Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel saying law and order is a state subject, adding that "nowadays central agencies are accompanying paramilitary forces and states' consent is not being taken".

Modi said "cooperative federalism is not only the preserve of the Constitution but is also the responsibility of the Centre and the states." While admitting that law and order is a state subject, Modi said that it was linked with India's unity and integrity.

In two letters — on May 2 and May 24 — to state DGPs, the National Security Council Secretariat had asked them to share information on the design and colour of uniforms and caps that the state police forces were using.

Musk 'frees' bird, gives its keepers marching orders

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

HOURS after taking control of Twitter, its new owner Elon Musk on Friday fired four top executives of the company — CEO Parag Agrawal, legal head Vijaya Gadde, chief financial officer Ned Segal and general counsel Sean Edgett. The sacked executives were reportedly "escorted out of Twitter's office". They are entitled to anything between $100 million and $200 million in severance, according to US media reports.

Musk, who calls himself a 'free speech absolutist', was highly critical of Twitter's management and its content moderation policies. He had called out Gadde for her role in banning former US president Donald Trump's account in January last year.

Earlier in the day, Musk tweeted: "The bird is freed... let the good times roll," indicating completion of his takeover of Twitter.

The dramatic developments are in line with Musk's promise that he will change the way Twitter is run. He is expected to ease content moderation, comb out dummy accounts, and lift the ban on Trump. "Twitter will be forming a content moderation council with widely diverse viewpoints. No major content decisions or account reinstatements will happen before that council convenes," Musk tweeted.

The alacrity with which Musk fired the CEO shows his aggressiveness, says former Twitter India head Manish Maheshwari. "He has acquired Twitter at a high price. He would want to prove himself right and will continue to make bold moves," he added. P13

Govt panel to control social media content

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

SEEKING to have better control over social media content, the government on Friday notified the revised IT rules to set up appellate panels to decide removal of content on these platforms. These panels will now decide whether contentious content should stay on or be taken down from social media platforms. They will have the power to overturn content moderation decisions taken by social media platforms.

According to the notification, the government will set up one or more grievance appellate committees within the next three months. Each panel will have three members — a chairperson and two whole-time members. These panels will have to acknowledge complaints within 24 hours and resolve the matter in 15 days. The changes in IT Rules came into effect on Friday.

The panels will look at objectionable religious content, pornography, trademark infringements, fake information and any content that could be a threat to sovereignty of the nation.

There have been many instances where the government and social media companies have been at loggerheads over the content posted on these platforms. Currently, social media firms can refuse to remove flagged content if they feel it is not objectionable and doesn't violate the platform's rules. But under the new rules, they will have to follow the direction of the grievance appellate committees.

CMO IN FIX OVER ALLEGED 'CASH GIFT' TO JOURNOS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ALLEGATIONS of Chief Minister's Office (CMO) 'gifting' Rs 1 lakh in cash in Deepavali gift boxes to some journalists has left the state government embarrassed and red-faced. Sources in the CMO have said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has apologised and said he was ignorant about the cash 'gifted' to journalists. He is likely to order a probe, the sources said.

Some senior journalists covering politics for media outlets have alleged that they received festival gift boxes containing sweets and dry fruits along with an envelope containing Rs 1 lakh in cash on October 22. While CMO gifting sweets and dry fruits for Deepavali is an annual affair, the alleged addition of cash was a shocker to the journalists receiving them. Some wrote to or called the CMO to take back the cash and vented their anger over being 'gifted' cash.

However, it is yet to be verified how many journalists received the envelope with the cash.

Sources in the CMO informed The New Indian Express that CM Bommai as well as many coordinating with the media were not aware of the cash in the gift boxes. "We have sent sweets in boxes to journalists and editors in many media offices, but we have no clue about cash in envelopes being put in those gift boxes," a source said.

Opposition Congress said it was a misuse of public tax money and demanded a judicial probe. "What is the source of the money? People of the state need to know how many received it and how many of them returned it?" the state Congress unit tweeted. P5

BENGALURU IN A GARBAGE MESS

Experts say garbage management has not kept pace with growth of city

MANJU SHETTAR @Bengaluru

THERE are very few stretches of roads in the city, where people can walk without holding their nose.

This is because garbage management is a major problem in the city -- not just visual cleanliness but even its disposal. This is reflected in the recent Swachh Survekshan ranking, released by the Union Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs. Bengaluru's ranking slipped from 28 in 2021 to 43 in 2022 in the category of cities with over 10 lakh population.

Experts said that in the last decade, garbage management has not kept pace with the growth of the city. While the BBMP has set a target of 85 per cent for segregation of waste, only 42 per cent has been achieved. A National Green Tribunal expert committee too seems to have given up.

A civic expert, Ravindran B, said that the city, being a startup capital, has not explored the possibility of helping entrepreneurs by supplying them with adequate biodegradable waste generated at homes that could be converted into compost. If it is realised, a considerable amount of waste need not be sent to the landfills. For this, the BBMP has to make segregation mandatory, but it has not, partly because of garbage contractors who benefit from operating trucks to carry the waste. They don't want segregation, he added.

According to BBMP records, the city generates 5,500-6,000 metric tonnes of waste every day. It has seven landfills and six waste-processing units (which have not been been upgraded since 2015). There are 150 dry waste collection centres, which can handle only one tonne of waste on an average. Nine decentralised biogas units have not been functioning since 2017. A company set up for solid waste management is yet to start operations.

A senior BBMP official said that nearly Rs 1,500 crore is spent on solid waste management every year. "Although BBMP tried to get a three-star rating in swachh ranking, it earned zero as it did not seem to process much waste," he admitted.

A senior NGT official told The New Indian Express, "There is no political will to handle the issue. There are too many operators. The reason why Indore is No. 1 is because it takes all the responsibility. Here there are too many contractors, too many agencies and no one political head. Each official and contractor has its own interest. There is no awareness and people have no sense of ownership or belonging. Laws too are not being implemented strictly. The BBMP and government are yet to understand garbage generation, transportation and disposal."

Activists said that despite the 73rd and 74th Amendments to the Constitution that mandates decentralisation in governance, administrators in Karnataka are obsessed with centralisation. This is reflected in the way solid waste is managed in the city. Centralisation favours corruption as contractors can fudge the number of trucks used to carry garbage. Besides, Bengaluru also has the additional burden of large amounts of electronic waste.

BBMP chief sets Nov 15 deadline for filling potholes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath has warned the Palike officials of strict action, including suspension, if the potholes in the city are not fixed by November 15.

The commissioner's warning comes in the wake of the Karnataka High Court expressing displeasure over BBMP's inaction in filling potholes.

Speaking to reporters at the BBMP head office, Girinath said two notices will be issued to the officials. The first will be to warn if a pothole is found uncovered and the second will be about disciplinary action, including suspension.

"Few notices have already been issued to assistant engineers, assistant executive engineers, executive engineers and chief engineers in this regard," the commissioner said, expressing hope that the potholes will be filled much ahead of the deadline. On Thursday, a division bench of the high court, headed by Chief Justice P B Varale, made pulled up the BBMP while hearing a public interest petition (PIL) filed by Koramangala resident Vijayan Menon and others seeking a direction to the government and the BBMP to fix the potholes in the city. The advocate for the petitioner argued that the number of deaths due to potholes in the BBMP jurisdiction is on the rise. He told the bench that the Palike has not used any technology to cover the potholes.

Reacting to this, the bench said that the BBMP has completely failed in the process of fixing the potholes. The court also instructed the BBMP to submit a report on the action taken by it in this regard. The hearing has been adjourned to November 2.

It started on Friday, the day the movie was released, but on a small scale. "From Saturday, all milk packets will carry the message. This is a tribute from the Federation to the actor. All the 15 milk unions in the state have agreed to this," KMF officials said.

The KMF sells 40 lakh litres of milk in over 85 lakh milk packets on a daily basis. Some unions are, however, demanding that this be extended for a month. The federation officials are considering the proposal.

Sudha Murty, educator and philanthropist, said, "I'm feeling very happy and proud that the Kannada film industry has produced a film like 'Gandhada Gudi'. Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

29TH October: Yesterday I dealt with the question of how astrology might 'work'. What I didn't say was that many astrologers think we will never understand this until we understand how our minds work - in other words the nature of consciousness itself! And that means one thing - we're in for a long haul.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mars will complete its over-the-top alignments very soon, suggesting that the last thing on your mind will be practical realities. Remember, though, that carelessness causes accidents: the last thing you want to do now is undo all your good work by failing to notice fundamental details.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You're liable to bite off more than you can chew right now. Jupiter, the planet of growth, has a habit of exaggerating your claims and inflating your expectations. It can also encourage you to double-book yourself, which may not please partners. Get organised!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The emphasis on money, survival and security looks set to continue over the next few days, although there is little indication as to whether your purposes will be best served by spending or saving: it may be another three months before you get a proper fix on material matters.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Yesterday's important lunar alignment remains the dominant presence today, rendering you more emotional than usual, but also increasingly determined to overcome all personal hassles and professional obstructions. In other words, you can actually have your cake and eat it!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Although you've caught the travel bug and may be obsessed by the belief that farthest pastures are greenest, you'll be in a relatively serious phase. Some sort of pilgrimage would capture the mood of the times. Perhaps a trip to your personal past could do the trick.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You'll be demanding passion in relationships. The only hitch is that you are so shy that you even conceal certain fundamental emotional drives from yourself. This may lead to no end of complications! The first step is to start talking to yourself - and then tell others what you've found out!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Don't imagine that every new friend or acquaintance can take the place of established ties. If professional schemes are on the go, press ahead, weekend or no. Romantic events could lead to higher costs as business and pleasure seem to become inextricably linked.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The Moon indicates a continuing favourable, dynamic trend in your life and urges you to seek the attention and recognition you deserve. Travelling and adventurous Scorpios have picked their time well, and all your journeys could have a creative dimension.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Spending is more heavily favoured than saving, so you may as well splash out with no thought for tomorrow. Social and romantic links are likely to be based around shared interests and activities: what you really need at the moment is companionship and a sense of belonging.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If you have managed to remain calm and kept your temper under control, even when it was clear that others were trying to pull the wool over your eyes, you may be unable to resist the temptation to blow your top over the next few days. You might end up having to apologise, though!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Today's planetary aspects are of the kind that favour Aquarians who place principles before personal interest. If you wish, you may want to follow romantic whims and even self-sacrificing desires! Mind you, you still need other people to stand by and give you their support.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You may as well allow others to lay down the law, mainly because even if you object, they'll take no notice. This is one of those times to give that famous Piscean shrug and let the world go on in its own sweet way. Actually, you're not as laid-back as you seem, but that's your secret!

HC stays order evicting nursery from Lalbagh

'Nurserymen Cooperative Society can run biz till case is decided'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court stayed the order passed by the Department of Horticulture, discontinuing the lease of 1 acre and 29 guntas land granted to Nurserymen Cooperative Society Limited in Lalbagh premises. It also permitted the Society to run the business in Lalbagh till the case is decided.

"The operation and execution of all further proceedings taken, pursuant to the order dated October 18, 2022, shall remain stayed, till the next date of hearing. The petitioners are permitted to run their business in the premises, subject to the result of the petition," said Justice M Nagaprasanna in the interim order passed after the petition filed by Govind, vice-president, and R Ravi, director of the Society.

The petitioners contended that the department authorities had erred in not considering the fact that members of the Society and staff are dependent on it for their income, and will be deprived of their livelihood due to cancellation of the lease. The authorities locked the leased premises on October 21 without notice, and the saplings and plants, valued at Rs 1 crore to Rs 1.5 crore, have not been watered for more than five days. This has caused loss in revenue to the Society, the petitioners alleged.

They contended that they are in possession of the nursery since 1990. On October 18, they received the eviction order, which came as a bolt from the blue, as they were not notified that they would be evicted. The order was issued unilaterally and without assigning any reasons, they alleged.

A day after the order was issued, a letter was issued by the horticulture department to freeze the bank accounts of the Society and cancel all facilities given under Section 4(g) of the Karnataka Transparency Public in Procurements Act. The action was taken as the Society was not working for the benefit of farmers, for which it was established. The department itself can undertake nursery activities as it has skilled persons, graduates and postgraduates as employees, it claimed.

School body seeks regulation of tuition centres

BENGALURU: School organisations are holding the government responsible for the rape and murder of a 10-year-old girl in Malavalli. The Karnataka Associated Management of Schools (KAMS) hit out at the government, stating that the cause of the crime was poor regulation of coaching centres. The girl was raped and murdered by a 51-year-old employee with the tuition centre. She had been missing since October 10. KAMS has alleged that poor regulation of tuition and coaching centres by the government led to the incident, as no safety regulations are in place. ENS

BU students lobby for ₹1.5 cr compensation for bus mishap victim

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PLANS are under way to ensure that Bangalore University student and BMTC bus victim Shilpa Shree's family is given Rs 1.5 crore compensation, following her untimely death.

Students and staff have collectively been demanding that Shilpa's family is assured of compensation from the government, university as well as the Social Welfare department, as Shilpa belonged to a Dalit family. "We are demanding Rs 50 lakh each from the university, government and department. The university has assured us that this will be looked into during the next syndicate meeting on October 31," said Lokesh Ram, vice-president of the BU Postgraduate and Research Scholars' Association. This was confirmed by BU syndicate member Dr H Sudhakar, who said the issue was listed for Monday's syndicate meeting.

The students had threatened to protest if their demands weren't heard, on behalf of Shilpa's family. Shilpa succumbed to her injuries on October 23, two weeks after she was run over by a BMTC bus on the university campus.

Following Friday's meeting, BU registrar M Kotresh wrote a letter to the principal secretary of higher education, appealing for compensation to be given to the victim's family from the Chief Minister's Relief Fund. "It was disappointing that no government participation was involved in the meeting. However, we are hoping that her family will be given adequate compensation as well as a government job assured to one dependent in her family," Lokesh said.

ROWDY ATTACKS THREE COPS, ESCAPES

ENS @Bengaluru

A rowdy sheeter, Vijay alias Gonne Viji, allegedly stabbed a police constable and attacked two other staffers, including a woman constable, and escaped in Girinagar police station limits on Friday evening.

Constable Nagendra Teli sustained stab injuries and was hospitalised. Two other constables, Kiran Mundina Mani and Netra, were injured after the rowdy used pepper spray on their faces. All three are attached to Girinagar police station. The police, who are on the lookout for Viji, said the incident took place when the three constables were on duty near 43 Bus Stop in Hosakerehalli, around 4pm. They found a blue Honda Dio without a registration number plate and identified the rider as Gonne Viji, a rowdy sheeter.

"Constable Kiran tried to catch him but the accused tried to escape. The two male constables caught him but he sprayed pepper on Kiran and stabbed Nagendra Teli with a dagger. He also sprayed pepper on Netra before escaping. The injured constables were rushed to hospital and treated as outpatients," police said.

Police have taken up an attempt to murder case.

MAN DONE TO DEATH BY WIFE, BROTHER

BENGALURU: A 40-year-old man was reportedly killed by his wife and brother, who were in an illicit relationship, on the outskirts of Bengaluru. On learning about their affair, he questioned his wife, which led to the murder. Japamale, 40, a resident of Jyothinagar on Kanakapura Road, was married to Thagai Mary, 32, and worked in Bengaluru. On Wednesday evening, he went to meet Mary and found her with his brother, Anthony, 37. He started an argument and questioned her about Anthony, who tried to intervene. As things worsened and the argument grew more heated, Mary and Anthony allegedly attacked Japamale with an iron rod. In order to mislead police, the accused made the murder look like suicide, and hung the body in the cow shed after cleaning up the bloodstains. They wanted to bury the body quickly. "Suspecting foul play, neighbours informed the police. After we checked the body, we found external injuries and took both suspects for questioning. During interrogation on Thursday, the duo confessed to have killed Japamale as he objected to their illicit relationship," said an officer who is part of investigations. They were arrested. Sathanur police have registered a case. ENS

'Not against docs practising privately'

SUDHAKAR said, in Mysuru alone, over 10-15 per cent of doctors are found to be irregular and the director has been asked to take action them.

"We are not against doctors practising privately, but it should be done only after duty hours. The government doctors must understand the gravity of the situation," he said.

He also said that if private practice is banned, there is an alternate plan to allow these government doctors to practice at medical colleges after their duty hours.

Reacting to the government's proposal, Dr Chimanyee Gowda, ex-women's in-charge at Federation of All India Medical Association said, "all doctors cannot be made to face the consequences of wrongdoing of a few doctors. Though the duty of doctors is to serve the nation, geo-tagging will be an invasion into privacy."

Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar in Mysuru on Friday

Gowda further said that the pay scale for government doctors is very less, which drives doctors to shift to private jobs. The government's plan will further cause a shortage in an already low working force in government setups, she said.

Tejas S, President of Karnataka Association of Resident Doctors (KARD), said, "in Karnataka, government doctors are underpaid, and hence, some doctors work in private clinics after their duty hours. Complete ban on doctors will not be helpful". He also said that only a few doctors violate the rules.

SIDDU HEEDS CALLS TO CONTEST, TO TOUR KOLAR ON NOV 13

May get 65% of votes, states internal survey

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

WITH leaders of various communities pressurising Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah to contest from Kolar, the Ahinda leader is visiting the constituency on November 13.

He wants to feel the pulse of the people and have an interface with leaders, members of different communities, Dalit organisations and those from civil society before making any announcement.

He will visit the Kurudamalai Ganapathi temple and Preethi Betta before kickstarting his tour of the constituency, which was once drought prone and has now received copious rain over the last two months.

Sources close to Siddaramaiah said a Hyderabad-based agency has conducted two surveys in the constituency and has presented a comprehensive report, saying Siddaramaiah could win with 65 per cent of votes. The survey has also looked into the popularity of Siddaramaiah, his programmes, benefits of the KC Valley project etc. People in the constituency feel that the border Kolar and Chikkaballapur districts would further develop, attract investment and bring in more development works if Siddaramaiah represents the constituency.

Though the demography of the Constituency, with dominant Muslim, Dalit and Vokkaliga population, followed by Kuruba, Balija and other backward castes could give an edge to Siddaramaiah, he has plans to tour the constituency before making a formal announcement.

He met Bovi community leaders from Kolar. He told them, "I won't disappoint the people of Kolar. I will visit the constituency and will deliberate before committing myself."

Congress leaders from Mysuru too want Siddaramaiah to contest from the Varuna constituency, which is considered safe for him. If he contests from there, Siddaramaiah will be free to campaign in other parts of the state, they feel. His son and present MLA from the constituency Yathindra too has said he would vacate the seat if his father wishes to contest.

Former ministers Ramesh Kumar and Krishna Byregowda, MLAs Narayanaswamy, Srinivasa Gowda and others have met Siddaramaiah, appealing to him to contest from Kolar.

Kalaburagi all set to host BJP's mega OBC meet

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

THE stage is set for the state-level convention of Other Backward Classes organised by BJP on the outskirts of Kalaburagi on Sunday (October 30).

BJP state spokesperson Rajkumar Patil Telkur, who is also Sedam MLA and Kalyana Karnataka Road Transport Corporation chairman, said that though BJP has organised OBC conventions in Bengaluru in the past, the Kalaburagi meet will be the first outside the state capital. He said the party expects over five lakh people to attend the convention.

BJP sources said that the BJP wants to use the convention to exhibit its popularity in the home district of newly elected Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge. The saffron party also wants to checkmate Siddaramaiah, known as the champion of AHINDA (a Kannada acronym for minorities, backward classes and Dalits) voters, by organising the convention.

Former minister KS Eshwarappa has visited Kalaburagi twice in the last 15 days in the run-up to the mega convention. Kalaburagi district in-charge minister Murugesh Nirani visited the venue on October 26 and asked party workers to ensure that the participants are not put into inconvenience.

Telkur said that party leaders had visited all the districts and taluks in the state and appealed to those belonging to the OBC category to participate in the convention. Participants are expected to reach Kalaburagi in 4,000 buses and 2,000 four-wheelers.

A pandal will be erected in 100 acres, he said, adding that a strong team of about 3,000 volunteers will help in organising the meet.

Food arrangements have been made for about 5 lakh people and over 1 lakh party flags will decorate the city, Telkur said.

The saffron party plans to hold eight state-level meetings, including a SC/ST convention in Mysuru, women's convention in Bengaluru, youth convention in Shivamogga, and Minorities and farmers convention.

Senior BJP leaders, including Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, his Madhya Pradesh counterpart Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Union Minister Pralhad Joshi, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, former minister KS Eshwarappa, and state BJP chief Nalin Kumar Kateel, who is also Dakshina Kannada MP, will highlight the achievements of the Union and state 'double-engine' governments, Telkur elaborated.

WELFARE SCHEMES OF CONG DISCONTINUED BY BJP: SIDDU

MYSURU: Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Friday lashed out at the BJP saying that the present government had discontinued all major schemes and pro-people welfare programmes implemented by the Congress. Speaking after inaugurating Huliyuramma temple in Tirumalapura in Mandya taluk, Siddaramaiah said he neither succumbed to any pressure nor betrayed the poor and the needy during his tenure as the CM. The Badami MLA said that he fulfilled all the promises mentioned in the Congress manifesto and also introduced 30 more welfare programmes for all sections of society. He alleged that for the last two years, scholarships have not been disbursed to students. "What moral rights do they have to speak for SC/STs? Do you want such a government to continue in office," he asked. Claiming that the Congress would implement pro-people programmes if voted to power in 2023, Siddaramaiah said the party will also take steps to open MySugar factory in Mandya. ENS

AT many places, family members of government staffers were also invited to join the event, with some taking an oath that they will use Kannada in their office work and will introduce the language to those who are not familiar with it.

In some places, songs were being played in the background. Special teams of musicians were called at the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) head office in Bengaluru. Over 1,000 officers and staffers attended the programme. Similarly, over 2,000 people gathered at the Bengaluru city police commissioner's office on Mahaveer Jain Road (Infantry Road). Crowds gathered at the KSRTC office and Bengaluru University Jnanabharathi campus as well. Over 3,000 staffers of Bannerghatta Biological Park and students from various government schools participated in an event held at the zoo premises at 11 am.

In Udupi, over 100 fishing boats sailed far out into the sea off the Malpe coast as they took part in the event with enthusiasm.

In Dakshina Kannada, an event was held at Panambur Beach as people sang the Kannada songs on cruise and fishing boats. These songs were sung in villages and towns across the state. Even those travelling on flights took part in the programme.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that through the 'Koti Kanta Gayana', great respect was shown to Goddess Bhuvaneshwari, and the state government is determined to build a bright future for Karnataka and Kannada.

Speaking to reporters after launching the event at Kanteerava Stadium in Bengaluru, Bommai termed it a golden day for the state of Karnataka. He said this could be a world record.

Waiting to sing, students faint in heat

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Karwar

THE Koti Kanta Gayana programme turned into a test for students, as the organisers made them stand in the scorching sun for hours in the district. Sadashivgad Fort near Karwar was filled with over 500 students from 12 schools, who were to sing six famous songs, including the state anthem by Kuvempu, Jaya Bharatha Jananiya Tanujathe, and Huilgol Narayana Rao's Udayavagali Cheluva Kannada Nadu.

They assembled at 10am, well ahead of the scheduled start around 11.30am and going on till 12.30pm. The students were initially enthusiastic, but trouble started when the heat grew unbearable and there were no seating arrangements or pandal for protection. Some were drenched in sweat, some others fainted due to fatigue or vomited due to dehydration, while others were lucky to find the shade of trees. Water supplied to them was insufficient.

FMGC cluster will usher in development: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hubballi

THE Fast Moving Consumer Goods (FMGC) cluster that is being set up in Hubballi-Dharwad will be a model of development in South India and will attract an investment of Rs 1,200 crore and provide employment to lakhs of people, said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

He was speaking at the investors' meeting for the Fast Moving Consumer Goods cluster in Hubballi on Friday.

"It's not important how much we are investing, but how many people have been given employment. Countries that have a strong workforce do not suffer from poverty," he said.

Four places in the state, including Dharwad, will be given the status of Special Investment Regions.

"The draft is ready and necessary permission will be taken in the cabinet meeting. Karnataka is ahead in many sectors. About 400 of the 500 R&D companies are located in the state. We are all set to bring amendments to the R&D Policy." Bommai said that 100 acres will be earmarked in Hubballi-Dharwad to give a boost for startups.

Speaking to reporters in Hubballi on Friday, Nirani said he wishes that major industries set up shop in Tier-II cities. "The new airports will bring in investment and help the region grow. The State Government is committed to developing infrastructure in the state, including international airports at Kittur and Kalaburagi," he said, adding that the process of land acquisition for the airports will begin shortly.

The government will need close to 3,000 acres of land for setting up of the new airports. The minister added that there is no shortage of land in the state to set up industries. There is 50,000 acres of which 20,000 acres is located around Bengaluru, he said.

"The various industry clusters that are being set up will generate employment and help in the economic growth," he said.

MTB flays city commissioner for suspending cop

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH a Bengaluru Police Inspector, HL Nandish, dying after a suspected heart attack on Thursday, Minister for Municipal Administration MTB Nagaraj came down heavily against Bengaluru Police Commissioner CH Pratap Reddy for suspending the officer.

After visiting Nandish's family, Nagaraj said, "It was not such a big mistake that it called for a suspension. The commissioner could have issued a notice and warned Nandish. Instead, he suspended the inspector, who died after a heart attack due to stress. Who will take care of his wife and two young children now? Doesn't the commissioner have a family? Those who commit big mistakes and crimes are spared and those in the lower rung are given big punishments for small mistakes."

Nandish was suspended on charges of dereliction of duty after a pub in the jurisdiction of KR Puram police station was allowed to be kept open beyond the permissible time limit. "His family members are saying that the inspector was not on night duty on the day the pub was open. What was the need for suspension in this case," Nagaraj asked.

HDK seeks probe into Nandish's death

ENS @ Bengaluru

JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Friday said Minister for Municipal Administration MTB Nagaraj's remarks expose the "cash-for-posting" scam in Karnataka.

Taking to social media to slam the government over the death of a police inspector, HL Nandish, in Bengaluru, he said, "What is the reason behind KR Puram police inspector death? The government has shown the courage to tell the truth. A minister in the Basavaraj Bommai government has revealed it." Kumaraswamy tweeted a 19-second video clip in which the minister is purportedly talking to a senior police officer during his visit to Nandish's house. Nandish was suspended on charges of alleged dereliction of duty and he died of cardiac arrest later.

Kumaraswamy said, "Nagaraj's remarks that the officer would have been under stress as he would have paid Rs 70-80 lakh for posting holds a mirror to the state of affairs. The chief minister and home minister should clarify it and also order a high-level probe."

He said the morale of the police force has been affected as senior officers hailing from North India are "acting like agents of the party high command" and treating their subordinates as servants. When contacted, Minister MTB Nagaraj told TNIE that he had never made any remarks about "cash-for-posting".

AMIT S UPADHYE @Hubballi

A gas leak from a cylinder near the Virupaksha temple in Hampi resulted in a fire and a loud explosion on Thursday late night, shocking locals. The fire was noticed on a tea cart near the temple, and within moments, the cylinder exploded. Nobody was injured as the security guards had vacated the site after noticing the fire. The blast occurred near the Salu Mantapa monuments, but there was no damage, said the authorities. "We were sitting near the gate which leads to Virupaksha temple. India in top 30 with highest TB burden

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@ Bengaluru

INDIA stands in the top 30 countries carrying the highest burden of tuberculosis (TB) cases across the world. TB was called the second most infectious killer after Covid-19, affecting the lungs in the World Health Organisation's (WHO) Global TB report released on Thursday.

The report showed that around 10.6 million people fell ill with tuberculosis in 2021, a 4.5 per cent increase since 2020, and 1.6 million people died. This is the first time such an increase was reported in the number of people falling ill with TB and drug-resistant TB in the past few years.

Men accounted for 56.5 per cent, women for 32.5 per cent and children for 11 per cent of the TB burden. Many new cases were attributed to five major factors -- undernutrition, HIV infection, alcohol use disorders, smoking and diabetes. TB services were among many other services disrupted by the Covid pandemic in 2021, but its impact on tuberculosis was particularly severe.

A decline in global spending on essential TB services from US $6 billion in 2019 to US $5.4 billion in 2021 was seen, which was half of the global target of US $13 billion annually by 2022.

The report also noted that the number of people newly diagnosed with TB fell from 7.1 million in 2019 to 5.8 million in 2020. Partial recovery of 6.4 million was seen in 2021, but it was well below pre-pandemic levels.

The three countries that accounted for most of the reduction in 2020 were India, Indonesia and the Philippines (67 per cent of the global total). They made partial recoveries in 2021, but still accounted for 60 per cent of the global reduction, compared with 2019.

"If the pandemic has taught us anything, it's that with solidarity, determination, innovation and the equitable use of tools, we can overcome severe health threats. Let's apply those lessons to tuberculosis. It is time to put a stop to this long-time killer," said Dr Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, WHO DG.

Techie drowns during dad's death anniversary rituals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Srikakulam

IN a tragic incident, a 30-year-old software engineer drowned in Vamsadhara while performing the death anniversary rituals of his father near Gotta Barrage in Hiramandalam mandal in the district on Friday. Laws for murderers cannot be applied to animal killers: HC

ENS @ Bengaluru

TURNING down arguments that criminal laws applicable to punish murderers should be applied to prosecute animal killers, the Karnataka HC quashed the criminal proceedings against a man who was booked under various provisions of IPC and Motor Vehicles Act, as a dog was killed when it came under the car he was driving.

"So long as Section 279 of IPC (rash or negligent driving likely to cause injury to human life) stands as it is, the same cannot be extended to any injury or death caused to an animal. If the submission of counsel of the complainant is accepted and the word person is interpreted to include an animal, then in the event of a death of a pet or animal, the offence under Section 302 of IPC would also be attracted which would not be the purport and intent of the IPC. Section 187 of the Motor Vehicles Act would not get attracted in the event of an accident involving a nanimal," said Justice Suraj Govindaraj, allowing the petition filed by G Prathap Kumar against the case registered by the Vijayanagar traffic police. Complainant Dhiraj Rakheja's counsel argued that even animals have rights. Justice Govindaraj observed that it is the general principles of criminal law which would be applicable for any offence under IPC and for an offence under Section 428 or 429 of IPC to be committed, there must be criminal intent. Without such intent or when animus to commit an offence is absent, it cannot be said that an offence under Section 428 or Section 429 of IPC has occurred, he said.

Forum files plaint with Lokayukta against Bommai

MEANWHILE, AICC General Secretary incharge of Karnataka, Randeep Singh Surjewala, tweeted: "Hats off to the courageous scribes of #Karnataka, who exposed the #BribeGate of CM Bommai & his CMO. Hope BJP Govt realises that everyone is 'Not on Sale'."

Janaadhikara Sangharsha Parishad (JSP), an organisation that fights against corruption, has filed a complaint with Lokayukta seeking legal action against Chief Minister Bommai and his media coordinator for allegedly trying to bribe journalists in the guise of Deepavali gifts.

Co-president of JSP, Adarsh R Iyer, said the complaint has been filed via e-mail to the Lokayukta ADGP and the same will be submitted personally on Saturday. In the complaint, the organisation sought registering a criminal case against the CM and his media coordinator over allegations of bribery, corruption and misappropriation of public funds under provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act and other relevant laws.

Lokayukta sources said as per the procedure, a preliminary probe has to be conducted before registering an FIR.

"If any material is found prima facie in the preliminary probe, an FIR will be registered against the accused and a detailed investigation will be carried out," an officer said.

BYPOLLS TO TEST BJP'S GROWTH PLAN SANS ALLIES

The assembly by-elections in seven seats across six states will test the Bharatiya Janata Party's strategy of growing in the states at the cost of its allies. The party ruling at the Centre and in the largest number of states has been on a growth trajectory in the last four decades. Starting from two members in the Lok Sabha in the early Eighties, it has reached a comfortable majority with over 300 in the current Lok Sabha.

The first BJP government at the Centre had nearly two dozen allies. Most of them were regional parties that had grown on the strength of opposing the Congress party. As the BJP sought to present itself as a national alternative to the Congress, it found common ground with the parties opposing the Congress in these states. Eventually, the BJP came into conflict with its regional allies.

Tussles started over seat-sharing, and the regional parties soon realised that the BJP was growing in their states at their cost. As a result, all big regional parties that had initially helped the BJP come to power at the Centre have parted ways with it. Among these are the Telugu Desam Party, Akali Dal, Shiv Sena, Biju Janata Dal, Janata Dal (United), etc. The wheel has now come full circle in the current assembly by-elections. The BJP is now facing its former allies. In Bihar, it is pitted against its oldest socialist ally and Nitish Kumar's new friend—the Rashtriya Janata Dal—in Gopalganj and Mokama constituencies. The Gopalganj by-election is taking place due to the death of BJP's sitting MLA. But with Nitish switching sides, the BJP is finding the going getting tough. In Odisha, the party is taking on its former ally, the Biju Janata Dal. In Maharashtra, it has decided to give a walkover to its oldest ally, the Shiv Sena. In Telangana, the Telugu Desam Party has withdrawn its candidate reportedly after talks with its old friend, the BJP. The TDP once held sway in the united Andhra Pradesh. But it has been pushed to the margins by two new regional outfits—the Yuvajana Sramika Rythu Congress Party in Andhra Pradesh and the Telangana Rashtra Samithi in Telangana.

Despite its inability to challenge the two new parties, the TDP has kept away from the BJP. The bypoll results will indicate whether or not the BJP should continue its policy of pushing out allies and going it alone.

BE CONSIDERATE TO YOUR HEALTH NEXT DIWALI

As the smoke and dust settles on yet another Diwali, it's clear that pollution levels were at a toxic high in most cities across India. The Air Quality Index readings were at best 'poor' and at worst 'severe', with Mumbai touching 300–388, Bengaluru at 250–300, Chennai peaking at 780, and Delhi—where usage of firecrackers is banned—recording 600 the day after Diwali. To put it in perspective, AQI of 0–50 is 'Good', 51–100 is considered 'Satisfactory', 101–200 is 'Moderate', 201–300 is 'Poor', 301–400 is 'Very Poor' and beyond 400 is 'Severe'.

Clearly, the Supreme Court order which aims to reduce air pollution by restricting the bursting of firecrackers to two hours (8 pm to 10 pm) and mandates green crackers, was ineffective. In fact, the order was flouted at will across cities, with crackers being burst through the day and well into the night, throwing both air and noise pollution norms to the wind. Neither was the 'green cracker' label strictly adhered to. Even in Delhi, where burning of crackers is punishable with a jail term and fine, the law was violated with impunity. Admittedly, enforcing the order is tricky, and putting the police force on such a duty is almost impossible.

The Supreme Court has, in its wisdom, attempted to bring in a clean change. While hearing a petition challenging the cracker ban in Delhi, the court told the petitioner, "Spend your money on sweets... Let people breathe the clean air." While bursting of crackers is a delicate topic, linked as it is to the biggest pan-India festival, it would be worthwhile to understand that the apex court wants people to put health before all other considerations. It is also understandable that people want to throw off the gloom of the past two pandemic years and celebrate the festival with zest, but the health benefits of a ban on harmful crackers are many. Air pollution is a silent killer, and the World Health Organisation lists it as an environmental health threat, contributing to respiratory, cardiac and pulmonary diseases, and even premature death. Data shows that across the world, 90% of the children breathe toxic air. There are other harmful effects of bursting crackers too, like burns, eye injuries and high-decibel bombs which leave both humans and animals distressed.

It would do us good to keep the health of future generations in mind, and heed the warning delivered by the Covid-19 pandemic—that our lungs need utmost care, and oxygen is crucial to life.

QUICK TAKE

BREXIT AND INDIAN VISAS

There's more to the flak UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak faces for reinstalling Suella Braverman as home secretary than Indian visas or her opposition to open-borders migration policy with India. For the record, as part of a trade deal, India pushes for business visas which may not lead to a permanent settlement. As Brexiteers, Sunak and Braverman cannot irritate the anti-immigration voters if they have to have any chance in the next election. At the same time, Sunak desperately needs trade deals with industrious non-EU nations to show Brexit is a success. He has a sensitive balancing act to perform.

The unilateral US-led West's sanctions on nations like Iran and Russia has made India talk about trading in the rupee. Earlier, it had done rupee-rouble trade with USSR

INDIA'S PROSPECT OF RUPEE ROUTE TO GLOBAL TRADE

N SATHIYA MOORTHY
Policy analyst and commentator

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Possibly for the first time for an American administration, President Biden's much-delayed National Security Strategy recently named 'inflation' as a 'global threat' alongside China and Russia. One can blame it on Covid and the Ukraine War or cite other causes and reasons but together, they have only bolstered inflation and price rise, the inseparable twins.

'People all over the world are struggling to cope with,' the US Strategy paper said, making it a cross-border issue, along with China, Russia—but not giving the same hope as taming of the other two. The US central bank, Federal Reserve, has been increasing interest rates periodically, to try and keep domestic inflation on the leash, but it has not helped slow down, leave alone reverse price rise nearer home. All these have consequences for third nations even if they are not trading with the US.

Still living in the fear of the otherwise forgotten Great Depression of the Thirties, the Fed Reserve has been using the interest rate mechanism to check inflation. Yet, the continuing price rise can impact Biden's Democratic Party in the biennial elections across the US in the coming month. The irony is that higher Fed Reserve rates also impact the economy, politics and hence elections, in third countries, including India.

Also, the Great Depression that held American and other western economies under its spell for a decade had commenced with the 'Wall Street crash' in 1929. Conservative economists in India, too, are hence watching the inexplicable surge in BSE-Nifty indices with concern.

What does it all mean for India and Indians? The continuing downslide in the rupee value against the American dollar flows also from the periodic rise in the US bank rates. It is a cause for national concern. Other indicators may have worked well to show a big GDP growth for India. Comparison with other economies may also be a good statistic, but price rise and inflation too have been travelling in the same direction as the GDP.

The constant increase in dollar rates affects the common man the most. India imports large quantities of dals and grams, which reach the common man's dining table as much as that of the rich. Cooking mediums like palm olein are also mostly imported.

It is a double whammy for the ubiquitous, upwardly mobile middle class whose children are enrolled in overseas universities. They have to cut down on their family budgets to send dollars to their wards, for whom, too, prices of food and other goods have increased, locally.

Official figures show that the RBI has spent over $100 billion in forex reserves to control the dollar price but without success. Reversing an earlier advice, it recently asked Indian banks to stop building additional positions in 'non-deliverable forward markets'.

In politico-electoral terms, the burgeoning numbers of the middle class have traditionally been opinion-makers during elections across the democratic world. It is no different in India. This means that the dollar rate can influence elections in third nations, including India, though that may not be the intention or motive of the US administration or the Fed Reserve.

The US dollar became the 'international reserve currency' after the Second World War. The Bretton Woods institutions like the IMF and the World Bank were also products of that process. At the end of the Second World War, from European colonial nations, the real power went into the hands of the US after it had fought and won the war for them.

Today, the global economic conditions have changed vastly from that distant past and have also become more complex—not only because of the collapse of the Soviet Union decades ago or because of communist China embracing the West's idea of a market economy, even if with a 'Chinese characteristic'. Again, there is more to it than meets the eye.

For instance, many nations see trading in and through the American dollar as an economic burden. The US too is seen as using it as a geopolitical and geostrategic weapon, though not necessarily targeting all the affected nations. The Bretton Woods scheme did not foresee it, and hence did not provide for distinguishing the multiple use of the dollar. Hence, third nations affected by the US' economic sanctions, say against Russia or Iran, are helpless and hapless as it affects them.

The world has neither the collective will, nor the mechanism, to tell Uncle Sam that he is wrong, and unless the US changes its ways, they would be forced to consider an alternative to the Greenback. Instead, they have tried out alternatives of their own without being able to influence the global system to move away from the dollar.

Post-Cold War Europe dabbled with the euro, which has failed to offer competition to the dollar. A rising China's ambition to make renminbi a parallel global currency has failed to take off.

The unilateral US-led West's sanctions on nations like Iran and Russia has also made India think and talk about trading in the rupee. India had done rupee-rouble trade with the erstwhile Soviet Union. It did rupee trade with Iran after American sanctions in the relatively recent past. At present, there are reports of India considering rupee-based trade with Russia, Iran, Saudi Arabia and the UAE.

India's neighbours like Maldives and Sri Lanka, too, have for long been asking for bilateral trade with India. They either want a 'South Asian currency' or the use of the Indian rupee for their trade with third nations. Governments apart, individuals and small businesses in India and the neighbourhood (not to leave out others) end up losing big time while converting their native currency first into dollars before emplaning, and those dollars into the local currency after deplaning. Even without it, the US has to only print dollars but every other nation has to earn it.

In these multiple backgrounds, trading in the Indian rupee may become an economic compulsion for India, going beyond the recent political posturing viz the US, especially following western pressure against New Delhi for purchasing 'cheap' Russian oil. Whether or not India and its partners, other than Russia and Iran, have the stomach to take on the US remains to be seen!

HINDI IMPOSITION: TO FRET AND FUME OR TO IGNORE

SANDIP GHOSE
Current affairs commentator

The bogey of Hindi imposition has raised its head again. It is a genie brought out of a bottle periodically by politicians. The latest trigger has been the report of the Committee of Parliament on Official Language, headed by Home Minister Amit Shah, submitted to the President of India earlier this month. The report's contents are not in the public domain, and the recommendations pertain primarily to the "Hindi-speaking" states. But close on the heels of the Committee's report, Amit Shah also released the first set of Hindi textbooks for MBBS courses in Madhya Pradesh, adding to the consternation.

The Tamil Nadu government promptly passed a resolution in the state assembly against "imposition" and urged the Union government not to implement the committee's recommendations. There were similar rumblings in Kerala. Tamil Nadu and Kerala are exempt from adopting Hindi as an official language under the Official Languages Act, 1963. But language has historically been an emotive subject in the south. So the reactions did not come as a surprise.

However, one was intrigued as to why the BJP, known for its electoral savviness, would like to stir the hornet's nest at this juncture—just over a year before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Besides, ripples from Tamil Nadu could travel across to neighbouring Karnataka, which will go to the polls in a few months. Narendra Modi and Amit Shah were far too astute to have missed these potential downsides. So, what might be their game plan?

Modi and Shah seldom speak in two voices. Their communication is always in sync, even if the tone and tenor are differently calibrated. However, regarding languages, the prime minister and home minister appear to be playing a calculated good cop–bad cop game. Narendra Modi goes the extra mile to emphasise the importance of preserving and promoting regional languages. The New Education Policy reflects this thinking. Even on his trips to Tamil Nadu, he emphasises on the rich heritage of Tamil literature. He never fails to pay his tributes to great Tamizh littérateurs like Thiruvalluvar. These cannot be dismissed as lip service from someone who was himself schooled in a regional language.

Amit Shah, on his part, takes pains to reiterate that Hindi is not a competitor but a "friend" of all the other regional languages. If dissected clinically and analysed objectively, much of what he says merits consideration. But, the discourse is not carried forward and is left open-ended, leading to conjectures about its intent. Some think it is just another exercise of floating trial balloons like the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA), National Register of Citizens (NRC) and Uniform Civil Code (UCC) to hover in the horizon and be invoked at will as a matter of political expediency. Others see this as a part of the BJP's nationalist agenda of insidiously extending the North's linguistic and cultural hegemony to the south of the Vindhyas.

PTI

> The Tamil Nadu government promptly passed a resolution in the state assembly against "imposition" and urged the Union government not to implement the committee's recommendations

However, leaving politics aside, what else can justify the push for regional languages to replace English? It has often been argued that in a knowledge economy, India has the edge over others not only because of its demographic dividend of a young, educated workforce but their proficiency in English. Loss of competitive advantage in a world dominated by commerce can be a heavy price for the idealistic cause of shedding colonial baggage. The trade-off can be worthwhile only if it makes education more accessible and meaningful. There are enough examples from Asia to Europe to Latin America where the entire education system and commercial architecture are founded on the native language. But they have been developed over the ages with a solid body of academic work in their national languages. Clearly, India has a long way to go before it can reach that inflection point.

The formula, if broken down, is simple. Language is a source of knowledge acquisition (study material), knowledge transfer (teaching) and finally, communication (transaction). The last can be solved by learning to talk in any language and, if required, take the help of translators. The first two are more difficult as they require sustained capacity building, which is expensive, time-consuming and can only be done with state support. However, if an alternative medium of education, conducting business and official transactions can bring down entry barriers and open up opportunities for larger sections of the population, then the investment will more than pay for itself. It will also lead to empowering people and dismantling Macaulian elitism. A parallel can be drawn with a professional course like Chartered Accountancy which is now offered in Hindi. This has been a game changer where large sections of the business community conduct their trade and maintain accounts in Indian languages.

However, the ultimate driver is economics. Despite years of resistance, the use of Hindi is increasing in Tamil Nadu. This is partly a function of changing demographics, with non-Tamil speakers from other parts of the country moving to Tamil Nadu for work or income-generating activities like medical tourism. As per official statistics, the number of Tamilian students opting for Hindi in schools or enrolling for private Hindi classes is increasing exponentially. This puts them on a level playing field in the employment market. National integration has to encompass social, cultural and economic arenas. Similarly, excessive sub-nationalism can become detrimental in an interconnected world defined by hypermobility. The problem arises in imposition, which inevitably leads to pushback. In the ultimate analysis, language, like water, will find its own level. The government's job is to create a supportive ecosystem for citizens to attain their potential. The future of the next generation cannot become hostage to political upmanship.

Twin challenges

Apropos of Pressure on India from both sides of the border (Oct 28). As pointed out in the column, India is facing challenges from both China and Pakistan. Dangers like Lashkar-e-Taiba, al Qaeda, etc., are very much lurking. The world order is changing, with women's protests in Iran, the Ukraine war, etc. In lieu of all this, India must be alert, cautious and prepared.

Jharkhand CM future

Apropos of Sparks fly as Jharkhand Governor seeks '2nd opinion' on Soren (Oct 28). The BJP's constant demands to get Soren dismissed has astonished people. The CM being connected to the mining lease issue is just another way for the opposition to grab power. Every government is formed to help and transform society; this issue is just to discredit the state government.

Political play in Kerala

Apropos of Congress must choose its enemy in Kerala (Oct 28). The drama playing out is merely a gimmick; all parties are involved in it. The governor is playing the role of the villain, while the government is playing the role of a 'nayakan', i.e., hero. The Congress has no role except that of a mute spectator.

Apropos of Kanimozhi apologises to Khushbu Sundar (Oct 28). Saidai Sathiq's comments are highly condemnable. Although Kanimozhi has apologised and condemned the DMK functionary for this, it is sad that the others who were present when he said this did not condemn him. Kejriwal's tactics

Arvind Kejriwal's letter to the PM urging the latter to print images of Lord Ganesha and Goddess Lakshmi on currency notes, is a suggestion that cannot materialise because "secularists" will oppose it. His proposal coincides with the upcoming polls in Gujarat, probably because he wants to position himself as a proponent of Hindutva.

Crude steel output to double: PM

Modi says Indian steel industry 2nd in world, praises special material used for INS Vikrant

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday said the Indian steel industry ranks second in the world and the government aims to double the production of crude steel in the country in the next decade.

In a virtual address at the Bhoomi Pujan of Nippon Steel's Hazira Plant Expansion Project in Gujarat's Surat, the PM praised the Indian steel manufacturers. "As we're proceeding towards the target of a developed nation, steel industry will play a vital role in strengthening the country's infrastructure. The Indian steel industry now ranks second in the world," he said.

The government had set a target of increasing crude steel production capacity from 154 million tonnes to 300 million tonnes. "It is our goal to double the production of crude steel in India. The government has set a target to achieve 300 million tonnes of crude steel production in the next few years. The government is promoting circular means of production through Public Private Partnership (PPP) model," said the PM. Talking about India's progress in defence manufacturing, the PM said scientists have developed special steel to be used in the construction of aircraft carrier INS Vikrant.

"Earlier, we depended on high-grade steel imports for developing defence equipment. Today, the steel industry is moving towards Aatmanirbharta (self-reliance). INS Vikrant is an example of this shift towards Make in India" the PM said.

The Prime Minister said that through the steel plant, not only investment was taking place but doors of many new possibilities were also opening. "An investment of more than ₹60,000 crore will create many employment opportunities for the Gujarat youth and the country. After this expansion, the crude steel production capacity at Hazira Steel Plant will increase from 9 million tonnes to 15 million tonnes," Modi said.

Referring to the world's expectations from India, the Prime Minister said India was rapidly moving towards becoming the world's largest manufacturing hub and the government is actively engaged in creating the necessary policy environment for the development of this sector.

Pointing out the challenges, the Prime Minister gave the example of carbon emissions for the steel industry. He explained that on the one hand, India was expanding its capacity to produce crude steel, and on the other, it is also promoting the use of environment-friendly technologies.

"Today, India is emphasising developing such production technologies which reduce carbon emissions and capture and reuse carbon," said the PM.

He emphasised that the government was committed to taking the steel industry to new heights. According to company officials, ArcelorMittal Nippon Steel India (AM/NS India) – a joint venture between ArcelorMittal and Nippon Steel, two of the world's leading steelmakers - will expand crude steel capacity at its Hazira plant from 9 million tonnes per annum (MTPA) to 15 MTPA.

The present annual crude steel capacity of the country is 144 MTPA. The leading players include Steel Authority of India Ltd. (SAIL) at 20.63 MTPA and Tata Steel with an annual crude steel production capacity of 34 MTPA.

'India to become manufacturing hub'

AAP disowns hawala money, documents tell another story

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

THE Aam Aadmi Party on Friday denied that the ₹20-lakh cash seized by the Gujarat police belonged to it. AAP candidate from Bardoli constituency, however, gave a statement to the Surat police that the money did belong to AAP. This newspaper has a copy of the statement given by AAP candidate Rajendra Solanki to the police.

In a statement sent to this paper by AAP spokesman Pritam Singh said: "AAP has nothing to do with any such money. The AAP candidate has not given any such statement. It is an attempt by BJP to tarnish AAP image due to the growing graph of AAP in Gujarat. BJP has become very desperate and will resort to similar dirty tricks in the next one month."

AAP spokesperson's statement that their candidate has not said that the money belonged to AAP is disproved by the statement of party's Bardoli candidate.

In a statement given to the Surat rural police in Gujarati, AAP candidate Rajendra Solanki said "amo Arajdar/ fariyadi bardoli vidhansbhana umedvar tarike jaher thayel hoi Party tarf thi party na prchar prasar maate bardoli khaate saurabh prasra ne kamgiri sopvama aavel che, jethi teo paarti na prchar prasar tatha menejment nu kam kaaj kare che e rite ame temne olkhie che."

This translates to: "I, petitioner/complainant, has been declared as a candidate for the Bardoli Assembly and the party has appointed Saurabh Parashar at Bardoli to carry out the party's publicity and management work. That's how I know him..." Solanki further said: "Saurabh no maara mobail par fon aavel ke mere par hamla hua hai, meri gadi ka kanch tut gaya hai,meri gadi ka kaanch tod ke paise ki chori ho gai hai, tethi hu banav banel bardoli polis stesan khaate pahonchi gayel hato tyare amo e saurbh bhai ne puchel ke shu banav banel hato tyare temna haath ma kaala color ni beg hati ane te batavi emno e janavel ke aa beg tena gaadi maathi ajanya ismo chori kari nasi gayel hata ane te beg aadil naam na isme chor no picho kari beg paachi laavel hata tevu janavel ane aa rupiya teo aangdiya pedhi maathi laavel hata ane rupiya event na kahrch maate hata."

This translates to: "I received a call from Saurabh on my mobile saying that there was an attack on me, my car's glass was broken, they broke my car's glass and stole money. So I went to the Bardoli police station. When I reached the place, I asked Saurabh bhai about the incident. He said he had a black bag that an unknown person stole from his car and escaped, and the bag was returned to him by a person named Adil by chasing the robber. Adil chased and brought the bag with the money back. He (Saurabh) said that the money was received by him from an angadia (hawala operator). The money was meant for the expenses of the party event."

The last line clearly says that Santosh collected money from an angadia (hawala operator) and it was to be used to meet the expenses of a party event.

SC acquits man accused of killing wife and 4 children 12 years ago

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court recently paved the way for release of man who was sentenced to death for killing his wife and four children over an alleged extramarital affair.

"We find the evidence of the investigating officer not only unreliable but we can go to the extent to saying that the same does not constitute legal evidence. The evidence in the form of extra judicial confession is nothing but a fabricated piece of evidence at the instance of the investigating officer just with a view to bolster up the case of the prosecution in the absence of any direct evidence," a bench of CJI UU Lalit, Justices SR Bhat and JB Pardiwala said.

While acquitting the accused, Justice Pardiwala writing 93 page judgement on behalf of the bench said, "Thus, none of the pieces of evidence relied on as incriminating by the courts below, can be treated as incriminating pieces of circumstantial evidence against the accused. Realities or truth apart, the fundamental and basic presumption in the administration of criminal law and justice delivery system is the innocence of the alleged accused and till the charges are proved beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of clear, cogent, credible or unimpeachable evidence, the question of indicting or punishing an accused does not arise, merely carried away by heinous nature of the crime or the gruesome manner in which it was found to have been committed. Though the offence is gruesome and revolts the human conscience but an accused can be convicted only on legal evidence and if only a chain of circumstantial evidence has been so forged as to rule out the possibility of any other reasonable hypothesis excepting the guilt of the accused."

The court's order came in a plea filed by convict Ramanand against Allahabad HC's July 9, 2021 ruling of affirming the death sentence awarded to the accused by the trial court in 2010. The death penalty was confirmed by the HC on the basis of extra judicial confession that was made by the accused.

Rajnath unveils 75 projects in Ladakh

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh dedicated to the nation 75 infrastructure projects built by the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) at a function organised at Darbuk-Shyok-Daulet Beg Oldi (D-D-DBO) road in Ladakh on Friday. The highlight of the event was the onsite unveiling of 120-metre-long 'class-70 Shyok Setu' on the DS-DBO road at an altitude 14,000 feet and virtual inauguration of two helipads, one each in Hanle and Thakung, in eastern Ladakh, the defence ministry said.

The bridge will be of strategic importance as it will facilitate logistics movement of the armed forces. Other projects inaugurated virtually by Singh included two helipads, one each in Hanle and Thakung, in eastern Ladakh, it said. These helipads will enhance the operational capabilities of the Indian Air Force in the region.

The 75 projects implemented by the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) included 45 bridges, 27 roads, two helipads and one 'Carbon Neutral Habitat'.

Twenty of the projects are in Jammu and Kashmir, 18 each in Ladakh and Arunachal Pradesh, five in Uttarakhand and 14 in other border states of Sikkim, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab and Rajasthan.

Speaking on the occasion, Rajnath Singh reaffirmed the government's commitment to ensure the progress of far-flung areas to fulfil the security needs of the country, stressing that infrastructure development, along with the valour of the Armed Forces, was the main reason that helped India to effectively deal with the recent situation in the northern sector. "These bridges, roads and helipads will facilitate military and civil transport in far-flung areas of the western, northern and north-eastern parts of the country, forming a part of the development chain," Rajnath Said. Appreciating the grit and determination of BRO for achieving the feat despite challenging weather conditions, the Minister pointed out that the projects will bolster the country's defence preparedness and ensure economic development of border areas.

The BRO's first Carbon Neutral Habitat at a height of 19,000 feet for its personnel was also inaugurated at Hanle. It is BRO's effort towards contributing to Ladakh's resolve of becoming the country's first Carbon Neutral Union Territory. The key features of this complex include accommodation of 57 personnel and thermal comfort during extreme weather. It will enable BRO to operate efficiently during large parts of winters. He described connectivity with border areas as one of the focus areas of the Government for the holistic development of the nation.

The defence minister also laid the foundation stone of Himank Air Despatch Complex being constructed in Chandigarh and a BRO Museum at Leh. With the onset of winter, once the passes close due to heavy snowfall, BRO extensively utilises air effort for movement of men, machinery and material to far-flung areas.

The existing air despatch sub-unit located at Chandigarh is being upgraded for providing comfort to transiting troops and to ensure efficient and uninterrupted delivery of essential stores and equipment for execution of works on ground, the ministry said.

It said the BRO will be undertaking the construction of the new complex at Chandigarh by incorporating the latest 3D printing technology and once completed, the building will boast of being the "world's largest 3D Printed Complex"..

To honour the sacrifices of its personnel and put on record the achievements of BRO, a museum at Leh is being set up, which will be a "source of information and inspiration", the ministry said.

Modi is patriot, protects Indian interests: Putin

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin was effusive in his praise of Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday, calling him a patriot who always defended India's interests. He lauded the PM for following an independent foreign policy, during the annual meeting of a Russian think tank, Valdai Discussion Club, in Moscow.

"Modi is one of those people in the world who is capable of conducting independent foreign policy in the interest of his nation despite attempts to limit it. A lot has been done under the leadership of Modi, he is a patriot of his country. His idea of 'Make in India' matters both economic wise and ethics," Putin said.

The future, he said, belongs to India. "Almost 1.5 billion people and tangible development results give reasons for everyone's respect and admiration for India." He said India and Russia have had close ties. Foreign minister S Jaishankar is scheduled to visit Russia next month for talks with his counterpart Sergei Lavrov.

Beware of EdTech online PhD courses: UGC

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE University Grants Commission (UGC) and All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) have warned students not to be misled by advertisements by EdTech companies offering online PhD programmes in collaboration with foreign institutes.

In a notice, the UGC and AICTE said that such online PhD programmes are not recognised by it and asked aspiring students to verify the authenticity of these courses as per UGC regulations 2016 before taking admission.

"Students and public at large, are hereby advised not to be misled by advertisements for online PhD programmes offered by EdTech companies in collaboration with foreign educational institutes," the notice issued jointly by the UGC and AICTE said. "In order to maintain the standards for awarding PhD degrees, the UGC has notified the UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of MPhil, PhD degrees) Regulation 2016," it added. "It is mandatory for all higher educational institutions (HEIs) to follow UGC Regulations and its amendments for awarding PhD degrees."

According to the UGC's dual-degree guidelines released in April, students can pursue two full-time academic programmes simultaneously either at the same university or from different universities. However, the guidelines are applicable only to students pursuing academic programmes like undergraduate, postgraduate, diploma and certificate courses. PhD programmes do not fall under the guidelines, it had informed the universities.

This is the second time the UGC and the technical education regulators are issuing a warning for the students. Earlier, they had warned recognised universities and institutions against offering courses in distance learning and online mode in association with EdTech companies, saying that no "franchise" agreement is permissible according to norms.

In March 2022, the Commission proposed amendments to the UGC regulations 2016 and suggested that 60% of admissions for PhD will be filled by students who have cleared the UGC-National Eligibility Test (NET) or UGC-NET-JRF (Junior Research Fellowship) while the remaining 40% will be filled through the entrance exams of the respective universities.

Work to hold plotters of 26/11 accountable unfinished: US, India

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE world must do more than just mourn, said US Secretary of State Antony Blinken on Friday, while remembering the victims of the 26/11Mumbai terror attacks that happened 14 years ago. More than 160 people died in the carnage, including six Americans.

"We have a responsibility to those victims and people everywhere to bring to justice the perpetrators of the Mumbai attacks, including their masterminds," said Blinken while virtually addressing the United Nations Security Council's (UNSC) Special Meeting of the Counter-Terrorism Committee held at the Taj Mahal Palace hotel in Mumbai, which was the prime target of the 26/11 attack.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar rued that the key conspirators of the November 2008 Mumbai terror attacks continue to remain protected and unpunished. When it comes to sanctioning terrorists, the UNSC has been unable to act in some cases because of political considerations, he pointed out.

"Mumbai was held hostage by terrorists who entered from across the border. Much worse was averted due to collective resolve of security forces, civilians and security staff of Taj Hotel," he said. While one of the terrorists, Ajmal Kasab, was captured and convicted by the Supreme Court, "the key conspirators and planners of 26/11 continue to remain protected and unpunished," Jaishankar added.

"Minister Jaishankar, let 26/11 be a reminder of our unfinished business of holding accountable the perpetrators of these scare and prevent future terror attacks like it," Blinken said.

Tale of 2 states: Maha loss, Guj gain

Why all big job-generating projects being shifted to neighbouring states, ask oppn parties

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Shinde-Fadnavis government is under increasing attack for losing one mega project after another, which could have generated thousands of jobs in Maharashtra, besides projecting it as the investors' No 1 destination.

On Thursday, Maharashtra lost Tata Airbus project. This was earlier planned for Nagpur in Maharashtra with a total investment of ₹21.935 crore, facilitating 6,000 jobs. It has now been shifted to Vadodara in Gujarat.

In the last three months, Maharashtra has lost total investments projected at ₹2.25 lakh crore which could have generated over two lakh jobs.

Earlier, Vedanta-Foxconn semiconductor chip project was planned at Chakan in Pune in Maharashtra with a total investment worth ₹1.54 lakh crore generating over one lakh jobs. Maharashtra govt was about to ink the MoU with Vedanta-Foxconn, but it changed its decision at the "last moment". But this mega project was shifted to Gujarat.

Besides, the bulk drug park project was earlier planned in Raigad district with a total investment of ₹3,000 crore with a promise to generate 50,000 jobs. It never came.

The medical device park project was planned at Aurangabad with a total investment of ₹424 crore with prospects to generate 10,000 jobs. The project plan of the Maharashtra government was approved by the BJP-led Central government in 2020, but later it informed the state that the project was going to be shifted to other states.

Chief Minister Eknath Shinde refused to speak about the 'loser' status. The Opposition has demanded the resignation of Shinde and Industry Minister Uday Samant for failing to retain the mega projects in the state.

NCP chief spokesperson Mahesh Tapase said Shinde should take a cue from former British PM Liz Truss and resign immediately for failing in his duty to the state and its people. He alleged Shinde was not able to protect the interests of Maharashtra.

NCP leader and former minister Chhagan Bhujbal said he had written to Ratan Tata in 2021 to set up the Airbus factory in Nasik as it was one of the suitable locations. "If all the job- generating projects are shifted from Maharashtra to Gujarat, then what will the youth of Maharashtra do? The BJP leadership should behave like national leaders, not as Gujarat leaders alone," Bhujbal said.

Congress leader and former minister for state Satej Patil said there was a deliberate attempt to downsize the importance of Mumbai.

"Are BJP's top leaders planning to make Gujarat a separate country? Why are all big projects shifted to only Gujarat? Why do foreign dignitaries no longer visit India's financial capital, but frequently visit Gujarat?" Patil asked.

Shiv Sena's Aditya Thackeray said the "illegal government" was busy in serving their Delhi masters than the people of Maharashtra.

"During the Maha Vikas Aghadi government, we brought investments worth ₹80,000 crore to Maharashtra, but this government is not doing anything," Thackeray said.

Azam loses House membership a day after his conviction

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

SENIOR Samajwadi Party leader and Rampur MLA Azam Khan was disqualified from the UP Assembly on Friday. The development came a day after Khan was convicted and sentenced to three-year imprisonment by Rampur MP/MLA court in a case of hate speech registered against him in April 2019.

The development will now necessitate bypolls to the Rampur Assembly constituency, which was won by Khan in the Assembly elections held earlier this year after he vacated the Rampur Lok Sabha seat. Khan, 74, was convicted on Thursday by the court for using objectionable language against persons holding prominent constitutional positions, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath and the then Rampur District Magistrate Anjaneya Kumar Singh at a public rally held during the 2019 general elections.

Getting into action immediately in compliance of the 2013 order of the Supreme Court, Principal Secretary, Vidhan Sabha, Pradeep Dubey initiated the proceedings of Khan's disqualification from the Assembly. It was subsequently communicated to the Election Commission of India.

The Supreme Court had stated in its order dated July 10, 2013 that if a sitting MP/MLA is convicted of an offence, then he/she would be disqualified immediately and the seat would be declared as vacant without giving three months' time to the convict for appeal as was the case before.

As per the provisions, Khan will not be able to contest any election for a period of nine years, since Section 8 of the Representation of the People Act deals with disqualification of a lawmaker for six years since his release from jail afterbeing convicted in case of any offence.

Bureaucrats being targeted by fraudsters

Bihar bureaucrats are on the radar of cyber fraudsters these days. After state chief secretary Amir Subhani, it's now turn of state DGP S K Singhal to fall victim of cyber fraud. A fake WhatsApp account using picture of 1988-batch IPS officer was created by cyber criminals to dupe police officials. Though fake WhatsApp account was active since September, economic offences wing of the state police came to know about it only recently and started investigation. EOU officials have already obtained SIM number, which was used for creating fake WhatsApp account in the name of DGP Singhal, who is scheduled to retire in December.

Chhath is observed by men in this village

Pipradih village in Bihar's Banka district occupies special attention during Chhath festival. Contrary to common perception about this festival, only male members of this village in Katoria block perform 4-day rituals. The tradition of offering 'arghya' to downward sun in the evening and rising sun in the morning by male members of the village has been going on for long. The devotees offer prayers for the well being and prosperity of the entire village, which has a population of over 5,000. In Bihar, Chhath is observed on a large scale. Huge rush can be seen in trains and buses during the festival, which falls on the sixth day of Deepawali.

Sada said he had never stayed in such a well-furnished flat. He had joined politics about three decades ago. As per Sada's declaration, he owns property worth ₹70,000 only – making him the lawmaker with the least assets in the state.

Gang-rape of minor by minister's son? Tripura Oppn turns heat on BJP

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Opposition in Tripura has turned up the heat on the ruling BJP over a gang-rape case in which the son of a BJP minister was allegedly involved. The incident was reported from Unakoti district on October 20.

The recent case of gang rape of a minor has been the center of several political debates in election-bound Tripura. The Opposition claims that among the accused, one is a minister's son and that the police and the ruling party are shielding him.

The police in a preliminary investigation found that a girl had taken the victim to a rented house in Kumarghat where a party was on. Later, she was taken to one of the rooms, given a drink and gang-raped. The police have so far arrested six persons in connection with the case. However, Congress and CPI-M, training their guns at BJP-led government, questioned why one of the accused has not been arrested yet.

"Over the past few months, crime against women has become an everyday phenomenon in Tripura," CPI-M state secretary Jitendra Chowdhury said. "The son of a minister in the state abducted a minor girl who was then gang-raped at a rented accommodation. There is a demand for his arrest but the police have not yet taken any action. I appeal to the police to arrest him," Chowdhury demanded.

The Congress demanded Chief Minister Manik Saha to issue a statement since a minister's son is involved in the case. The BJP rubbished the Opposition's charge but condemned the incident. Minister Sushanta Chowdhury termed it as "false" and "fabricated". He claimed the opposition parties resorted to a "smear and malicious campaign" to gain political mileage.

Stating that the victim had not mentioned the name of the minister's son in the FIR, he said the police had been instructed to proceed with the investigation as per law.

A public rally taken out by a tribal organisation in Shillong on Friday turned violent, leaving several people injured and some vehicles damaged. The Federation of Khasi Jaintia Garo People had organised it to flag the issue of rising unemployment in Meghalaya.

Some participants chased and attacked passers-by and damaged vehicles. They were holding flags and used the bamboo poles of the flags to attack people. Two journalists were among the injured. Photos and videos of the incident have gone viral on social media.

Meghalaya has had a history of such rallies turning violent but authorities did not anticipate trouble on Friday. The protestors outnumbered cops. It was not known if police made any arrest in connection with the incident. Police have been asked to take strict action against the perpetrators.

East Khasi Hills District Magistrate Isawanda Laloo told this newspaper, "Two injured were taken to a hospital and released after treatment."

Gujjars, Bakerwals join hands to oppose ST status to Paharis in J&K

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH Home Minister Amit Shah announcing early this month that Pahari community in J&K would get ST reservation soon, the Gujjar and Bakerwal community leaders, who are opposing it, have formed a united front — Gujjar Bakerwal Joint Action Committee (GBJAC) — to fight for the rights of tribal and oppose any move of granting ST reservation to Paharis or any other creamy layers of the society.

GBJAC chief spokesman Talib Hussain said various Gujjar and Bakerwal groups and student bodies have joined hands and formed the GBJAC to fight for their rights. The new united front would be led by Haji Mohammad Yousaf.

Gujjar and Bakerwals with a population of over 2 million, he said, were notified as Schedule Tribe in the erstwhile J&K state in 1991 after a struggle of four decades. Opposing any move to grant ST status to the Pahari community, he said, "The ST status cannot be granted on the basis of language. It is granted on the basis of social stigma and backwardness."

The Paharis, he said, aren't defined as an ethnic community by any sociological or anthropological research study. "Paharis are a group of different religious communities and castes within religions that came together for a common demand of ST status."

He said the GBJAC will strongly oppose any move to grant ST status to the creamy layers of the society.

"According to the Indian constitution, ST is equal to SC and today you are equating Brahims with the SCs. Those who were landlords, tax collectors and rulers who proudly identified themselves as Rajas, use titles like Sardar and Raja are claiming to be socially isolated and stigmatized. Brahmins, who held the highest offices, controlled the economy and dwell in towns also complain of social discrimination. How on earth can they and other creamy layers of society be at par with Gujjar-Bakerwal people, who reside mostly on mountainous terrains and jungles sans basic amenities of life," Talib said.

Asserting that a group of religions with a complex caste structure cannot be designated as a tribe, he said it would be a historic blunder if upper castes are granted the ST status.

Last Pandit woman living in Shopian village leaves

As the administration tried to play down the latest 'exodus' of Kashmiri Pandits from Shopian village, the last Pandit woman living in the Choudhari Gund village in south Kashmir district also left for Jammu on Friday and with her leaving, all the 10 Pandit families, who had not migrated in 1990, in the hamlet have left the Valley, a Kashmiri Pandit group said. Kashmir Pandit Sangarsh Samiti president Sanjay Tickoo said that 55-year old woman left Kashmir for Jammu today. ENS

BJP, Cong star power to set stage for Himachal polls

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

WITH just a fortnight to go for the Assembly elections in Himachal Pradesh, large contingents of star campaigners of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and the Congress will flock to the state to woo voters. While 32 star campaigners of the BJP are starting a 'vijay sankalp abhiyan' in the poll-bound state from October 30, the Congress delegation will comprise about 40 leaders.

The BJP will, of course, rely on the charisma of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, besides national party president JP Nadda, who hails from the hill state; Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath and others. The list of Congress campaigners includes newly-elected party president Mallikarjun Kharge, former presidents Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel.

Prime Minister Modi is scheduled to address a rally in Solan on November 5, and another rally at a later date, while Shah is likely to address a rally on November 9 at Karsog in Mandi district. The BJP's line-up also comprises Minister of Women and Child Development, and Minority Affairs Smriti Irani; Information and Broadcasting Minister Anurag Thakur, who also hails from the state and is the MP from Hamirpur; Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia, and others.

Chief ministers of a few states will also campaign in Himachal Pradesh for their counterpart Jairam Thakur. Besides Yogi, Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chauhan, Haryana CM Manohar Lal Khattar and Uttarakhand CM Pushkar Singh Dhami will be working towards achieving the BJP's return in the Himalayan state.

Talking about the victory prospects of the party, Himachal Pradesh BJP president Suresh Kashyap said that under Jairam Thakur, record development work has been done in the state. "The double engine government has given bulk drug park, AIIMS, Atal Tunnel and Renuka Dam," he said.

For the Congress, while Priyanka had started the campaign from Solan with their 'parivartan rally', she is now scheduled to address a public meeting in Mandi and hold a road show in Kullu on October 31. She will also address gatherings in Kangra, Chamba, Hamirpur, Una and Sirmaur districts in the first week of November and can also campaign in Kinnaur, Lahaul and Spiti, and Chamba districts.

The party's plans are for Priyanka to make public appearances in eight of the total 12 districts in the state. Congress leaders like former Haryana CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda, Sachin Pilot, Raj Babbar, Mukul Wasnik and Harish Rawat are also expected to visit the state for campaigning for the party.

Assembly elections in Himachal Pradesh will be held in a single phase on November 12.

Horse-mule carriers make quick buck along Yatra route with ₹109 cr business

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE Char Dham Yatra has already registered a record arrival of 45 lakh pilgrims since the opening of the shrine portals. The Badrinath Dham is due to close for winter on November19 while the Kedarnath Yatra concluded on Thursday. Along with the pilgrim rush -- after over a year of Covid-19 pandemic lull -- has come loads of money.

Guess, who earned the most? The horse-mule and Dandi-Kandi (palanquin) operators, whose business volume stood at ₹109.98 crore of the total business of ₹211 crore. It is way above the business volumeof the helicopter companies, Rs 75 crore, during the travel period.

The government earned a revenue of about ₹8 crore from horse-mule and palanquin (Dandi-Kandi) operators alone, according to the Badri-Kedar temple committee.

This time, the administration registered around 15,000 horse and mule owners during the yatra. As many as 5.34 lakh pilgrims visited Kedarnath Dham riding horses and mules. Operators registered for Yamunotri Dham did a business of Rs 21 crore, according to the committee.

"PM Modi during his Uttarakhand visit urged people to spend at least 5% of their yatra budget on buying local products," Ajayendra Ajay, president of the Badri Kedar Temple Committee, told this paper. "Looking at the profits of businessmen this time, it appears the next yatra would be unprecedented, and the PM's dream would come true," said Ajay.

Banshidhar Tiwari, managing director of Garhwal Mandal Vikas Nigam, told TNIE said the corporation is estimated to earn Rs 50 crore. Taxi traders associated with the yatra have also done business thrice the average income of previous years, said Tiwari.

All hotels, homestays, lodges, and dharamshalas along the yatra route had six-month bookings. "The GMVN has earned Rs 40 crore till August this year, whereas it suffered economic losses in previous years," said Tiwari.

Sudesh Chandra Jugran, additional chief officer of Rudraprayag district panchayat, said despite the pilgrim rush, awareness about single-use plastic is still lacking, "Besides, a comprehensive action plan is being considered at the administrative level to deal with traffic jams," said Jugran.

Looking at the profits of businessmen this time, it appears the next yatra would be unprecedented

Imran admits he offered extension to Army chief

Says defeating no-confidence motion against him was necessary for stability; launches march to Islamabad to demand early elections

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S ousted prime minister Imran Khan has admitted that he offered an extension in the tenure of Army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa in March amid the opposition's attempt to topple his government.

Imran's remarks came after Pakistan's ISI chief Lt Gen Nadeem Najum revealed at an unprecedented press conference on Thursday that the army chief was given a "lucrative offer" for an indefinite extension in his tenure in March this year. "It was made in front of me. He (Gen Bajwa) rejected it because he wanted the institution to move forward from a controversial role to a constitutional role," the ISI chief said, without naming former premier Imran.

Imran told 92 News TV in an interview on Thursday that he told the army chief that if the then opposition was offering him an extension, then he could do the same, The Express Tribune newspaper reported.

"I repeatedly warned Gen Bajwa that if this no-confidence motion succeeds, it will have a direct impact on the economy and no one would be able to control it as the economy will go into a tailspin," he said.

Imran said he also asked the top military leaders 'as to why did they hold a press conference to discuss political matters if they were apolitical'.

Gen Anjum addressed the first-ever media interaction by any ISI chief in Pakistan's history on Thursday.

Addressing his party supporters after launching a protest march towards Islamabad, Imran said he knows certain things, but will not speak out in the interest of the country and the military.

"DG ISI, listen carefully, the things I know, I am staying silent for my institutions and the country. I don't want to damage my country," the PTI chief said. "Our criticism is for constructive purposes and for your improvement. I can say more but will not say as it will hurt the institution," he said. "My only aim is to free my nation and turn Pakistan into a free country," Imran said.

Meanwhile, Pakistan was tense on Friday as hundreds of supporters of Imran gathered in Lahore to march towards Islamabad to force the government to announce a date for early general elections.

Supporters of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) riding on their motorcycles and carrying party flags have assembled at the famous Liberty Chowk from where Imran would proceed towards the capital through the historic GT Road. Agencies

TURNAROUND

After US, now Germany posts surprise growth in third quarter

BERLIN

THE German economy unexpectedly grew in the third quarter, official data showed Friday, defying predictions of a contraction as Europe's powerhouse grapples with high inflation and an energy crisis.

German output increased by 0.3 per cent quarter on quarter, federal statistics agency Destatis said in preliminary figures, adding that the expansion was mainly powered by consumer spending.

Analyst surveyed by Factset had expected a contraction of -0.2 per cent.

"The German economy managed to hold its ground despite difficult framework conditions of the global economy with the continuing Covid-19 pandemic, supply chain interruptions, rising prices and the war in Ukraine," Destatis said.

The overall outlook for Europe's largest economy remains gloomy however, as the fallout from Russia's war in Ukraine takes its toll.

"Today's positive growth data is a welcome surprise. However, it does not mean that the German economy will be able to prevent a recession," said ING economist Carsten Brzeski. "The recession is only delayed, not cancelled."

Germany was heavily reliant on Russian gas before the war, and Moscow's move to cut off flows through the crucial Nord Stream 1 pipeline has fuelled fears of energy shortages and skyrocketing heating bills this winter.

Record-high inflation of 10 per cent in September has added to the pain, as consumers and businesses see their purchasing power eroded. AFP

Russia ends movement of civilians ahead of Kherson battle

MOSCOW

MOSCOW has announced the end of the movement of civilians within occupied Kherson, organised by Russia-installed authorities in the southern Ukrainian region in the face of a counter-offensive from Kyiv.

Kyiv's forces are preparing for a fierce battle to retake the region's main city Kherson and the surrounding areas on the right bank of the Dnipro River after making major gains in Ukraine's east and south.

The city with a pre-war population of around 2,88,000 people, was one of the first to fall to Moscow's troops in the early days of the February invasion and retaking it would mark a major milestone for Kyiv.

Moscow's forces have vowed to turn Kherson into a "fortress" faced with Ukraine's advancing troops in the region that the Kremlin claims to have annexed.

Since mid-October the occupation authorities have urged Kherson residents to cross to the left bank of the Dnipro River, deeper into Moscow-controlled territory and closer to regions of southern Russia.

Ukrainian forces were surrounding Kherson from the west and attacking Russia's foothold on the west bank of the Dnieper River, which divides the region and the country. By Friday, the movement of residents was complete.

"The work to organise residents leaving to the left bank of the Dnipro (river) to safe regions of Russia is completed," Sergei Aksyonov, the Moscow-appointed head of Crimea, a peninsula Moscow annexed from Ukraine in 2014, said on social media late on Thursday.

Russia mobilised over 3,00,000 reservists in just over a month to join Moscow's offensive in Ukraine, a senior official said. AFP

At least 6 killed as Iranian forces shoot at protesters: Report

TEHRAN

IRANIAN security forces fired at protesters in Zahedan on Friday, with some reports saying at least six people, including a 12-year-old were killed.

"The special police forces cracked down on the protesters and fired at the crowd" in Zahedan, the Human Rights Activist News Agency said in a Twitter post. The tweet was accompanied by a video in which gunfire and chants of "Allahu akbar" (God is greater) could be heard. AFP was unable to immediately verify the footage. A long burst of automatic gunfire was also audible in another video posted online by the Oslo-based group Iran Human Rights (IHR), which said it was aimed at people who were seen scrambling for cover. Activists said dozens of people had emerged from Friday prayers and taken to the streets of Zahedan, the capital of Sistan-Baluchistan province on the border with Pakistan.

The official Iranian news agency IRNA blamed "rioters" for the unrest in Zahedan, saying they had set tyres on fire. "Some rioters, who were masked, threw stones at cars" that drove by around Tawhid Square in Zahedan, it said.

IRNA said Zahedan was generally "calm" and that police were present in the city, namely around the Makki mosque. It later quoted a statement from the provincial security council that accused "opportunists" of trying to spark "riots and insecurity" in Zahedan. "A number of citizens and members of the security forces were wounded by bullets fired by unknown individuals," the statement said.

The protests come four weeks after "Bloody Friday" protests triggered by anger over the reported rape of a teenage girl by a police commander in the region. Security forces killed at least 93 people during that unrest, according to the Norway-based IHR.

Body found on plane from Iran in Germany

Berlin: A dead body was found in the undercarriage of a Lufthansa aircraft that arrived in Frankfurt from Iran, police told AFP on Friday. The man's corpse was found during maintenance work, a spokesman for the police in the German state of Hesse said. The plane had landed in Frankfurt early on Thursday morning and had flown in from the Iranian capital Tehran. An oxygen canister and a mask were found next to the body, the police said, adding that an investigation has been launched.

Nancy Pelosi's husband attacked with hammer at home

SAN FRANCISCO

PAUL Pelosi, the husband of House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, was attacked and severely beaten by an assailant with a hammer who broke into their San Francisco home early on Friday, according to people familiar with the matter.

Pelosi, 82, suffered blunt force trauma to his head and body, according to two people with knowledge of the investigation into the attack. He was being treated by doctors for bruising, severe swelling and other injuries. Pelosi's spokesman Drew Hammill said he was expected to make a full recovery. The assailant is in custody, and the motivation for the attack is under investigation, the spokesman said.

"The Speaker and her family are grateful to the first responders and medical professionals involved, and request privacy at this time," Hammill said in a statement.

While the circumstances of the attack are unclear, the attack raises questions about the safety of members of Congress and their families as threats to lawmakers are at an all-time high almost two years after the deadly Capitol insurrection. The attack also comes just 11 days ahead of midterm elections in which crime and public safety have emerged as top concerns among Americans.

In 2021, Capitol Police investigated around 9,600 threats made against members of Congress, and members have been violently attacked in recent years.

Members of Congress have received additional dollars for security at their homes, but some have pushed for more protection as people have showed up at their homes and as members have received an increasing number of threatening communications.

Capitol Police, tasked with protecting congressional leaders, said Nancy Pelosi was with her protective detail in Washington at the time her husband was attacked.

She'd just returned this week from a security conference in Europe and is due to keynote an advocacy event Saturday evening with Vice President Kamala Harris.

Capitol Police said the FBI and San Francisco police were also investigating. The suspect is in the custody of the San Francisco police.

Often at Nancy Pelosi's side during formal events in Washington, Paul Pelosi is a wealthy investor who largely remains on the West Coast. They have five adult children and many grandchildren. The two have been married 59 years. AP

Assailant came shouting 'Where is Nancy?'

The intruder who attacked Nancy Pelosi's husband in their San Francisco home confronted him shouting, "Where is Nancy, where is Nancy?" according to a person briefed on the situation. The attack was not random; the assailant specifically targeted her home, the person said

Maruti reports 4-fold increase in Q2 net profit

Better sales volume, favourable forex variation & cost cut efforts boosted margin

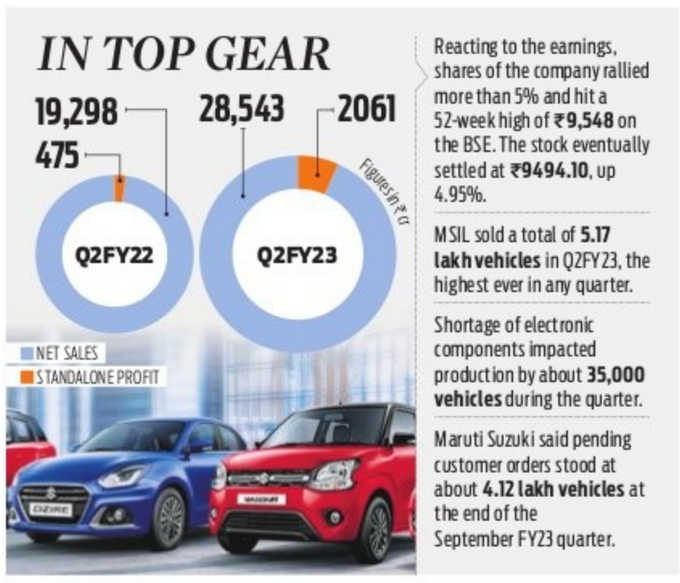
ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

OWING to highest-ever sales in a single quarter and improvement in operating margins, India's largest carmaker -- Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) -- on Friday reported a whopping 334% year-on-year (YoY) growth in its standalone net profit for the quarter-ended September FY23 (Q2FY23).

The carmaker's operations were disrupted by high commodity prices and chip shortage in the same quarter last year. MSIL posted a net profit of ₹2,061.5 crore during Q2, as against a net profit of ₹475.3 crore in the corresponding quarter last fiscal. MSIL's revenue from operations surged 46% YoY to ₹29,931 crore while its operating profit margin improved sharply by 670 bps YoY to 7.2% during the quarter under review. "Relatively better sales volume leading to improved capacity utilisation, favourable foreign exchange variation, cost reduction efforts, and improved realisation boosted margin performance, though impacted by higher advertisement cost, and higher power & fuel expenses," the company said.

MSIL sold 517,395 vehicles during the quarter, the highest-ever in any quarter. Sales in the domestic market stood at 454,200 units. Exports were at 63,195 units. Shortage of electronic components impacted production by about 35,000 vehicles in this quarter. The same period previous year was marked by acute shortage of electronic components and consequently the company could sell 379,541 units comprising 320,133 units in domestic and 59,408 units in export markets.

Maruti claims it has pending orders of about 412,000 vehicles at the end of Q2, out of which about 130,000 vehicle pre-bookings are for recently launched models.Dalal Street welcomed MSIL earnings. Shares of the company rallied over 5% and hit a 52-week high of ₹9,548 on the BSE. The stock eventually settled at ₹9,494.RC Bhargava, MSIL chairman said Indians are moving towards SUVs and MUVs from hatchbacks and that they are in the "phase of transition" to cater this shift. He estimates that demand for smaller cars is likely to decline in financial year 2024 even as the passenger vehicle market that is set to grow by 8%.



Reacting to the earnings, shares of the company rallied more than 5% and hit a 52-week high of ₹9,548 on the BSE. The stock eventually settled at ₹9494.10, up 4.95%.

MSIL sold a total of 5.17 lakh vehicles in Q2FY23, the highest ever in any quarter.

Shortage of electronic components impacted production by about 35,000 vehicles during the quarter.

Maruti Suzuki said pending customer orders stood at about 4.12 lakh vehicles at the end of the September FY23 quarter.

'No headway in disinvestment of state PSUs'

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

DISINVESTMENT of state PSUs have not made much headway. Main progress on the disinvestment front in state-owned PSUs has only been in Madhya Pradesh.

They have made a separate department for disinvestment and also did some asset monetisations, sources told TNIE.

"In Madhya Pradesh, they have made a separate department to give momentum to the disinvestment process. They have made some progress towards asset monetisation and land monetisation," a top Government source said.

The official also said that the Odisha government has also made some enquiries but nothing significant has been done by the state on this front.

According to a government official, there are land issues in States. There should be clarity on land titles, documentation.

"In some States, there is excessive land attached to the State PSUs. We are trying to demerge such land from such PSUs," he added.

Finance Minister Nirmal Sitharaman in one of her budget speeches, while elaborating the Centre's efforts to disinvest Central Public Sector Enterprises (CPSEs), had also asked the state governments to look at selling or privatising some of their PSUs.

However, finance ministry officials have said that there has been a general lack of interest among states in exploring the route of selling state PSUs. The official quoted above also talked about opposition to disinvestment of some units of CPSEs based in states run by opposition ruled states. Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman last year announced the Government's plans to privatise all state-run companies except a few which are in strategic sectors such as defence and telecommunications.

SATCOM

Industry not for spectrum allocation via auction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

SATELLITE industry has urged the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) to administratively allocate spectrum to them and not take the auction route.

They said this is in conjunction with the fact that satellite spectrum auction has never happened in India before and globally the administrative allocation route is followed.

"While India is making rapid progress in the digital economy, one needs to keep in mind that satcom plays a pivotal role," said Anil Prakash, Director General of SIA-India (Satcom Industry Association of India). SIA said that during the three days deliberations at the India Space Congress 2022, the members of the space industry echoed the view for administrative allocation of 28MhZ spectrum and not to take the auction route.

Recently Bharti Enterprises chairman Sunil Bharti Mittal said satellite communications can't be auctioned on the lines of its recent sale for 5G services. He reasoned these airwaves will be used in limited areas and will not be a cash-rich source for generating billions of dollars of revenue. Its competitor Reliance Jio and Vodafone Idea are favouring the auction route for satellite spectrum. Recently, the DoT approved a licence to Jio Satellite Communications, a unit of Reliance Jio, to offer satellite-based communication services in the country.

IMF CUTS ASIA'S ECONOMIC FORECASTS

The International Monetary Fund cut Asia's economic forecasts on Friday as global monetary tightening, rising inflation blamed on the war in Ukraine, and China's sharp slowdown dampened the region's recovery prospects. The IMF cut Asia's growth forecast to 4.0% this year and 4.3% next year, down 0.9% point and 0.8 point from April, respectively. The slowdown follows a 6.5% expansion in 2021. While inflation in Asia remains subdued compared with other regions, most central banks must continue raising interest rates to ensure inflation expectations do not become de-anchored, the IMF said in its Asia-Pacific regional economic outlook report. "Asia's strong economic rebound early this year is losing momentum, with a weaker-than expected second quarter," said Krishna Srinivasan, director of the IMF's Asia and Pacific Department. "Further tightening of monetary policy will be required to ensure that inflation returns to target and inflation expectations remain well anchored." "As the effects of the pandemic wane, the region faces new headwinds from global financial tightening and an expected slowdown of external demand," the report said. Among the biggest headwinds is China's rapid and broad-based economic slowdown blamed on strict COVID-19 lockdowns and its worsening property woes, the IMF said.

JAPAN

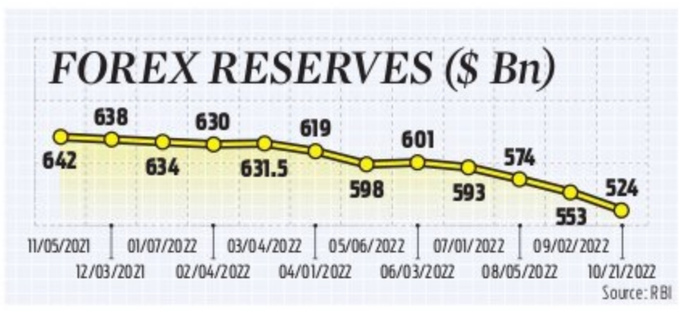
UNVEILS $200 BN IN NEW SPENDING TO EASE INFLATION

Japanese Prime Minister Fumio Kishida's government approved Friday a hefty economic package that will include about 29 trillion yen ($200 billion) in government spending to soften the burden of rising utility rates and food prices. Globally surging prices and a weakening of the yen have amplified costs for imports, pushing inflation higher. The stimulus package includes subsidies for households that are largely seen as an attempt by Kishida to lift his plunging popularity. His government has been rocked by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party's close ties to the South Korean-based Unification church, which surfaced after the assassination of former leader Shinzo Abe in July. Any market reaction to another flood of stimulus was likely already taken into account earlier in the week as share prices fell in Tokyo, with the benchmark Nikkei 225 losing 0.9% to 27,105.20. Japan has stuck to using fiscal measures, or government spending, to counter current economic challenges. Japan's inflation rate is a relatively moderate 3% and the greater fear is that the economy will stall, not overheat.

SOUTH KOREA

EXPORTS TO FALL IN OCT FOR FIRST TIME IN 2 YEARS

South Korea's exports likely fell in October, shrinking for the first time in nearly two years in the face of a global economic slowdown and rising interest rates, a Reuters survey showed on Friday. The country's outbound shipments were forecast to have fallen 3.0% in October from the same month a year ago, according to the median forecast of 11 economists, after growth slowed to a near two-year low of 2.7% in September. That would end a 23-month streak of year-on-year gains since November 2020. The pace of growth has fallen more sharply since mid-2022, with growth rates for the past four months down to single-digits. During the first 20 days of this month, exports shrank 5.5%, as sales to China - South Korea's biggest trading partner - dropped 16.3%, on course for a fifth full month of declines. Meanwhile, imports were expected to extend their run of gains to a 23rd month with growth of 7.2%. Still, the figure would be well down on 18.6% in September and the weakest since January 2021. Full monthly trade data is scheduled for release on the first day of November.



Forex kitty falls further by $3.84 bn to $524.5 bn, lowest since July 2020

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA'S foreign exchange reserves dropped by $3.847 billion to $524.52 billion for the week ending October 21, according to the data released the RBI on Friday.

The overall reserves had dropped by $4.50 billion to $528.37 billion in the previous reporting week, and have been falling for several months now. Forex kitty had reached an all-time high of $645 billion in October 2021. Reserves have been falling as the RBI deploys the kitty to defend the rupee amid pressures caused majorly by global developments. Foreign currency assets (FCA), a major component of the overall reserves, saw a drop of $3.593 billion to $465.075 billion during the week to October 21, according to the Weekly Statistical Supplement released by the RBI on Friday. Expressed in dollar terms, the foreign currency assets include the effect of appreciation or depreciation of non-US units like euro, pound and yen held in the foreign exchange reserves. Gold reserves saw a decline of $247 million in value to $37.206 billion, it said. The Special Drawing Rights (SDRs) were up by $7 million to $17.44 billion, the apex bank said.

India's reserve position with the IMF was down by $14 million to $4.799 billion in the reporting week, the RBI data showed. Experts have maintained the RBI has used a lot of forex reserve for checking fall of rupee, which has depreciated by nearly 11% since the beginning of the year. However, the RBI Governor in his September Monetary policy statement had said two-third of the fall in reserve during current fiscal is for valuation changes arising from an appreciating US dollar and higher US bond yields.

Twitter announces 'Tweet Tiles', ties up with NFT marketplaces

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TWITTER has announced that it is testing a new feature 'NFT Tweet Tiles'.

This will show a larger picture of the NFT (non-fungible tokens) alongside details such as the title and creator, and this is the platform's newest experimental display format for NFTs.

Jump.trade, GuardianLink's NFT marketplace and B2C platform that focuses on gaming NFTs and international brands, has been shortlisted by Twitter for NFT Tweet Tiles.

Apart from Jump.trade, other marketplaces included in the experiment are Rarible, Magic Eden and Dapper Labs.

Facebook, Instagram, and now Twitter have incorporated NFTs into their interface and experiences.

"If social networking companies that have a very strong reputation have openly endorsed this new dimension of technology, it cannot be denied that NFTs are bound to be the order of the future," Kameshwaran Elangovan, co-founder and COO at GuardianLink told TNIE.

When asked about NFT Tweet Tiles, Edul Patel, CEO and co-founder of Mudrex, a crypto investing platform, said, "With Elon Musk now at the helm of affairs at Twitter, we can expect a few surprises from time to time. Considering the 'degen' population that constitutes Twitter, the crypto market would remain on its toes."

According to a report by Grand View Research, the global NFT market size will reach $211.72 billion by 2030, at a CAGR (compound annual growth rate) of 33.9% from 2022. It says the growing use of cryptocurrency globally is also anticipated to drive the growth of the market.

NFTs have set in motion a revolutionary period in web technologies, with popular platforms such as Twitter working on building specific NFT verification mechanisms.

Potentially, these digital tokens could be leveraged as digital passports, university library cards, event tickets, ownership deeds in the metaverse and much more, said Abhay Aggarwal, founder and CEO of Colexion.

Vikram R Singh, founder and CEO of Antier, a blockchain development and consultancy company, said that with the growing scope of Web3, organisations are coming up with new innovations and concepts. He added that NFTs are being incorporated into games and there is a rising focus on the building utilities of NFTs rather than price speculation.

Rally continues in domestic equity market despite weak global cues

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIAN equity market continued its rally on Friday despite weak global cues. The BSE Sensex again reclaimed the 60,000 mark while the the broader Nifty50 is heading toward the 18,000-mark. On Friday, Sensex settled at 59,959, a gain of 203 points. The Nifty jumped 50 points to end the week at 17,786.

Market experts believe that it is a matter of time for Nifty to reclaim the 18,000-mark.

"Markets raced ahead as bulls were seen enthusiastic with immediate inter-week goal posts for Nifty seen at the psychological 18000 mark. Above 18000, the benchmark Nifty will aim its all-time-high at 18605 mark. The positive takeaway was that the bulls shrugged off the fact that the Fed will almost certainly issue a fourth-straight 75 basis point rate increase at its policy meeting scheduled on November 2. For Nifty, the immediate hurdle is seen at 18100, while support is seen at 17407-17589," said Prashanth Tapse - Research Analyst, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities.

Sameet Chavan, Chief Analyst-Technical and Derivatives, Angel One, said markets have opted to take a breather before unfolding the next leg of the rally. As per Chavan, as far as supports are concerned, 17600 - 17500 are to be treated as key levels and till the time, it remains unbroken, there is no reason to worry for. On the flip side, it's a matter of time, we would see Nifty surpassing 17800 to retest the psychological junction of 18000, he said adding that traders are advised to remain upbeat and keep a close watch on thematic moves which may unfold in the first of the forthcoming week.

Most Asian markets remained weak with China witnessing sharp sell-off following a Communist Party Congress meet dashed hopes for market-friendly policies. Benchmark Shanghai Composite Index dropped 2.2%, while the Hang Seng Index shed 3.6%.

"We plan to expand the capabilities of ecommerce store builder and landing page builder significantly, adding options for more integrations and easier set up," Sampad Swain, co-founder and CEO, Instamojo told TNIE. IMAGINE MARKETING, the parent company of audio & wearables brand boAt, has raised ₹500 crore from existing shareholder, a Warburg Pincus affiliate, and new investor Malabar Investments.

With this fundraising, it has put on hold IPO plan and is likely to reconsider listing in next 12-18 months, as per a source. Earlier, it had filed a draft prospectus with the Securities Exchange Board of India (Sebi) for a ₹2,000 crore initial public offering (IPO). The IPO consisted of a fresh issue of shares of up to ₹900 crore and an offer for sale of shares up to ₹1,100 crore. boAt's plans to delay its IPO at a time when major start-ups like Oyo and PharmEasy are least enthusiastic to go public due to tough market and record fall in the valuation and share prices of listed firms such as Zomato, Paytm and PolicyBazaar. boAT said the fundraising will fuel expansion into the fast-growing smartwatches category while cementing leadership in personal audio. "The firm is raising ₹500 crore from its existing shareholder, an affiliate of Warburg Pincus, a leading global private equity fund and new investor Malabar Investments," the company said in a statement.

Rain continues to dampen World Cup party

Ireland players wait for the rain to stop ahead of their match against Afghanistan in Melbourne on Friday. It was called off without a single ball being bowled | AP

AFP @Melbourne

CRICKET'S Twenty20 World Cup is in danger of being diminished by bad weather after more rain forced the abandonment of both matches in Melbourne on Friday including an Australia-England blockbuster. Forecasters warn that more rain — but also some sun — is on its way in the coming days in Australian cities hosting what should be the pinnacle of cricket's shortest format.

The famed Melbourne Cricket Ground, which will stage the final on November 13, was buffeted by almost non-stop rain on Friday.

First the weather claimed Ireland's match against Afghanistan without a ball being sent down, meaning the Afghans have had two of their three World Cup matches abandoned because of rain. They lost the other. Teams take one point each when a match is washed out and they are not rescheduled.

"Very frustrating. Obviously after the (washed out) New Zealand game, you thought no way is it going to happen twice," Afghanistan coach Jonathan Trott, the former England batsman, said at a sodden MCG.

"The frustrating thing as well is there's a stadium down the road that's got a roof on it as well so you can play cricket there, so we could have had lots of cricket," Trott added.

With the rain refusing to go away, the highly anticipated clash between Ashes rivals Australia and England then fell victim, doing neither team any favour as two of the pre-tournament favourites attempt to rescue their failing title bids.

"The outfield has taken a drenching over the last couple of weeks, as wet as I've ever seen it," said Australia skipper Aaron Finch. "The run-ups and around the circle were very, very wet. It's about player safety." The Super 12 stage has now seen four games out of a scheduled 14 abandoned because of rain — three in Melbourne and the other in Hobart.

What this means for teams

One of Australia or England could have taken a big step towards the semi-finals with a win at the MCG, but Friday's washout means they remain level on three points with Ireland, who too had a washout against Afghanistan.

NEW ZEALAND

The Kiwis are the only unbeaten team in Group 1 after two matches, and the margin of their 89-run win over Australia has given them a big edge in the NRR. Their match against Sri Lanka on Saturday could see them take a stranglehold on the group with a win, but defeat would make Group 1 even more of a six-way tussle for qualification with two rounds of games remaining.

AUSTRALIA

The tournament hosts know that they cannot afford to lose another game – two defeats isn't mathematically terminal to a team's qualification chances, but it will likely take a lot of fortune to qualify with just three wins in the Super 12 stage. After three games they have a NRR of -1.555 – the worst in the group. But, on paper at least, the fixtures are in their favour. The final two matches are against Afghanistan and Ireland, which theoretically gives Australia an edge if it does comes down to run rate.

ENGLAND

A rain-impacted loss to Ireland has been followed by a washout against Australia, leaving Jos Buttler's side in a spot of bother in Group 1. The upcoming meeting with New Zealand is now even more significant. Win that and England can make a real statement going into the final match day. Lose and qualification will be completely out of their hands, or potentially completely impossible depending on results in the meantime.What England do know is that two big wins in their final two matches, first against the Kiwis and then Sri Lanka, should be enough to send them through.

IS RAIN COMMON IN NOVEMBER? Forecasters are blaming La Nina for heavier-than-usual downpours and cooler temperatures in northern and eastern Australia and said they expect the weather system to hang around for the whole of November -- the rest of the World Cup. Teams are generally trying to put a brave face on it and, publicly at least, say they can adapt to whatever the conditions throw at them. Australia usually don't start their home season in October and until the start of this season, only six men's international matches have been played in the month.

WHAT IS THE FORECAST LIKE? Australia's Bureau of Meteorology is predicting showers all next week in Melbourne but the city does not host another World Cup game until November 6, the MCG's penultimate match before the final. Brisbane, Perth, Adelaide and Sydney will stage matches in the coming days. They are a mixed bag of sunshine and showers, with Brisbane mostly dry and sunny but Adelaide looking wet and even stormy.

Insta-Rilee trending for S Africa

Five years after turning his back on Proteas, Rossouw is now an integral part of side

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ON Sunday, one of India's greatest threats to their winning run at this year's World Cup will come from an unlikely source: a batter who last played in the Indian Premier League (IPL) in 2015. But Rilee Rossouw has been a man transformed in recent times. Barring Suryakumar Yadav, he's probably been the best T20 batter in 2022. For Somerset at the Blast in 2022, his numbers were stratospheric — 623 runs while striking at 192.2 at an average of 47.9. He has been equally impressive for South Africa since coming back after his turbocharged Blast season. 4, 96 n.o., 31 (all vs England) were followed by two ducks as well as an unbeaten 48-ball 100 against India in Indore earlier this month.

That match in Indore showed why Rossouw is so good in this format six years after he quit South Africa for English county side Hampshire as a Kolpak player. He ticks most of the boxes you want from your primary No. 3. Left-hander. Spin-hitter. Takes advantage of powerplay field restrictions if he comes in early.

Rossouw showcased all of those attributes in a thrill-a-second 109 against an admittedly pedestrian Bangladesh attack on Thursday. Temba Bavuma left early but Roussouw was not mindful of what another wicket would have done. In the next five powerplay overs, he scored 36 off 18, including taking down a negative matchup in Mehidy Hasan Miraz, the off-spinner. He was equally severe against Shakib Al Hasan scoring 24 runs off seven balls. Considering India's two lead spinners at this World Cup are Axar Patel and R Ashwin, one wonders how they will approach this challenge. For what it's worth, in Indore, Rossouw hit sixes off both Ashwin and Patel. Because he has spent a significant chunk of his time playing franchise cricket in the Bangladesh Premier League, he is an outstanding player of spin. While the sample size is too small, they may try and frontload Arshdeep Singh to remove Rossouw. Arshdeep dismissed him both times for nought in the series in India.

Rilee Rossouw hit the first ton of this edition against Bangladesh on Thursday | AFP

192 Rossouw has scored 192 fours or sixes (113x4 and 79x6) in T20s this year. That's third-best behind Alex Hales and Jos Buttler.

3 No of scores above 90 in seven innings since coming back for South Africa in July 2022. Also has three single digit scores.

175.66 The southpaw strikes at 175.66 against spin in 2022 (462 runs off 263 balls).

Today's match

Sydney: Sri Lanka vs New Zealand, 1.30 PM

Live on Star Sports Network

While Rossouw does have an intimate relationship with naughts early on in his career — five of his first 10 ODI scores were zeroes — the 33-year-old is a different beast right now. Part of it is because he wants to keep things as simple as possible. " try and simplify things and try to keep it as simple as possible. Doesn't matter where or what stage you're playing on, World Cup, going back home, domestic. Just trying to see the white ball and hit the little white ball," he said after his 100 against Bangladesh. "At the end of the day, someone is bowling the ball to you and you're going to hit it."

Rossouw has done an awful lot of hitting, this year. In terms of run-scoring in all T20s this year, he his seventh. In terms of boundary-hitting, he his third. The key, according to him, is to get away a boundary early on in his innings. "If I get a boundary early in my innings, I kind of feel like, 'okay, I could be on you today', and I just go from my confidence and so forth," he revealed after that Bangladesh match.

What has he done specifically against spin? "I think the more you play against them, the more comfortable you get," he said. "That's probably basically anything you do in life, the more you do it, the more you get used to it. And also just handling the different, like, pressure situations, being in the subcontinent when the pitches are turning. You've got to expose yourself to that tough environment. I've been fortunate enough in the last six or seven years of my career to be in that position. And it's just made me a better player."

There was much recrimination in South Africa when Rossouw turned his back on them as he decided to opt for financial security over international cricket in 2017. "It is a disappointing day not just for South African cricket but also for international cricket as these players have given up their opportunity to be seen in action on the international circuit," CSA chief executive Haroon Lorgat said then. "From CSA's perspective, it is a loss as we invest immeasurable amounts which include premium time, finance, technical, high performance coaching followed by development tours and providing general player welfare over a long period of time." By the time Lorgat had finished the press conference, it was clear that Rossouw wouldn't be considered for the national team any more.

Yet, five years later, he has emerged as the main man in a loaded batting line-up. So, it was understandable why the southpaw became emotional during the Bangladesh game. "I'm a very passionate man," he said. "And getting across the line, it meant a lot to me. It means a lot to my family back home. It's just been a good roller coaster ride. Just to play with South Africa again, it's been amazing. "This year has been like an unbelievable roller coaster ride for me. So happy. So proud to be sitting here." If he leads his side over the line against India and Pakistan over the next week, he will continue to win more fans in his country of birth.

Sankar restores faith with medal

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

SHUTTLER Sankar Muthusamy took a notable leap on Friday, posting an emphatic win to assure himself a medal at the World Junior Championships in Santander, Spain. In the process, the former junior World No 1 emulated big names like Saina Nehwal, Lakshya Sen and HS Prannoy, to name a few. For someone who's 18, this medal-worthy performance could go a long way. However, he had faced a harsh reality just before his trip to the European nation.

The Tamil Nadu shuttler, who's part of TOPS development scheme, was forced to sit out of the mixed team event at the eleventh hour. This newspaper has learnt that Sankar, who was in the initial squad which was announced in September, and his coach Aravind Swamiappan were informed by badminton authorities that they were no longer part of the team at the last minute. It is learnt Sankar, along with his coach, were removed from the team by the BAI for ignoring its diktat.

It goes without saying that the stringent call had put Sankar's immediate future in jeopardy. With the clock ticking, he was racing against time to be considered for the individual event. It is learnt that the issue was sorted internally and to Sankar's big relief, he was given the green signal to take part in the individual event. That decision has proven to be a huge boost with the Indian now just one step away from reaching the final. Saina is the only Indian to have won a gold medal in the competition.

Sankar Muthusamy entered semifinal of the World Junior Championships in Spain

On Friday, Sankar was handed a stiff test by China's Hu Zhen An. The left-handed shuttler bagged the first game 21-18 but he was made to toil in the second, a game he lost 8-21. But the Chennai boy maintained his composure to recover and pocket the third game and seal the contest. "It was quite tough. In the second game I was not in a good patch initially, so I slowed it down in the second since he was getting tired. Towards the middle of the third game his tiredness started showing and that was a boost for me. I'm fine for tomorrow's (Saturday) match. I'm used to training for such long matches as I'm a defensive player, but I've also been trying to attack more," Sankar was quoted as saying to BWF.

Thailand's Panitchaphon Teeraratsakul is Sankar's next hurdle. Having almost missed the flight, and having made this far, Sankar will be determined to return with the top prize. That would certainly make a compelling story.

World No. 9 New Zealand scored through Sam Lane (22nd and 35th) and Jake Smith (34th). New Zealand showed more attacking intent in the early exchanges. India goalkeeper PR Sreejesh was called into action early in the match as he saved a deflected long-range attempt.

Mandeep Singh scored a brace as India beat New Zealand 4-3 | DEBADATTA MALLICK

It was India, however, who got the first penalty corner of the match but Shamsher Singh wasted the chance.

India took the lead from the first chance of the match. Nilakanta Sharma found Mor free on the right with an accurate pass before the latter fired past New Zealand goalkeeper Dominic Dixon. India play Spain on Sunday here.

Blasters suffer third straight defeat in ISL

AGENCIES @ Kochi

MUMBAI City FC kept their unbeaten streak alive after a 2-0 victory over Kerala Blasters FC in the Indian Super League at the JN Stadium in Kochi here on Friday. First-half goals from Mehtab Singh and Jorge Diaz were enough to secure all three points for the Islanders. Kerala Blasters lost their third consecutive game after winning the ISL opener earlier this month.

The hosts made two changes to the side that lost in Bhubaneswar last week. Ruivah Hormipam was replaced by Victor Mongil. Up front, Ivan Kaliuzhnyi was dropped to the bench as Rahul Kannoly Praveen took his place in the starting line-up. Mumbai City FC made just one change to their line-up — Diaz returned to the starting eleven as Alberto Noguera dropped to the bench.

The Islanders retained their record of scoring the first goal of the game in the ISL as they took the lead after 21 minutes. The hosts failed to clear a corner as the ball bounced off a couple of Blasters' players before coming to Mehtab Singh. The defender put his boot through the ball and smashed it into the back of the net.

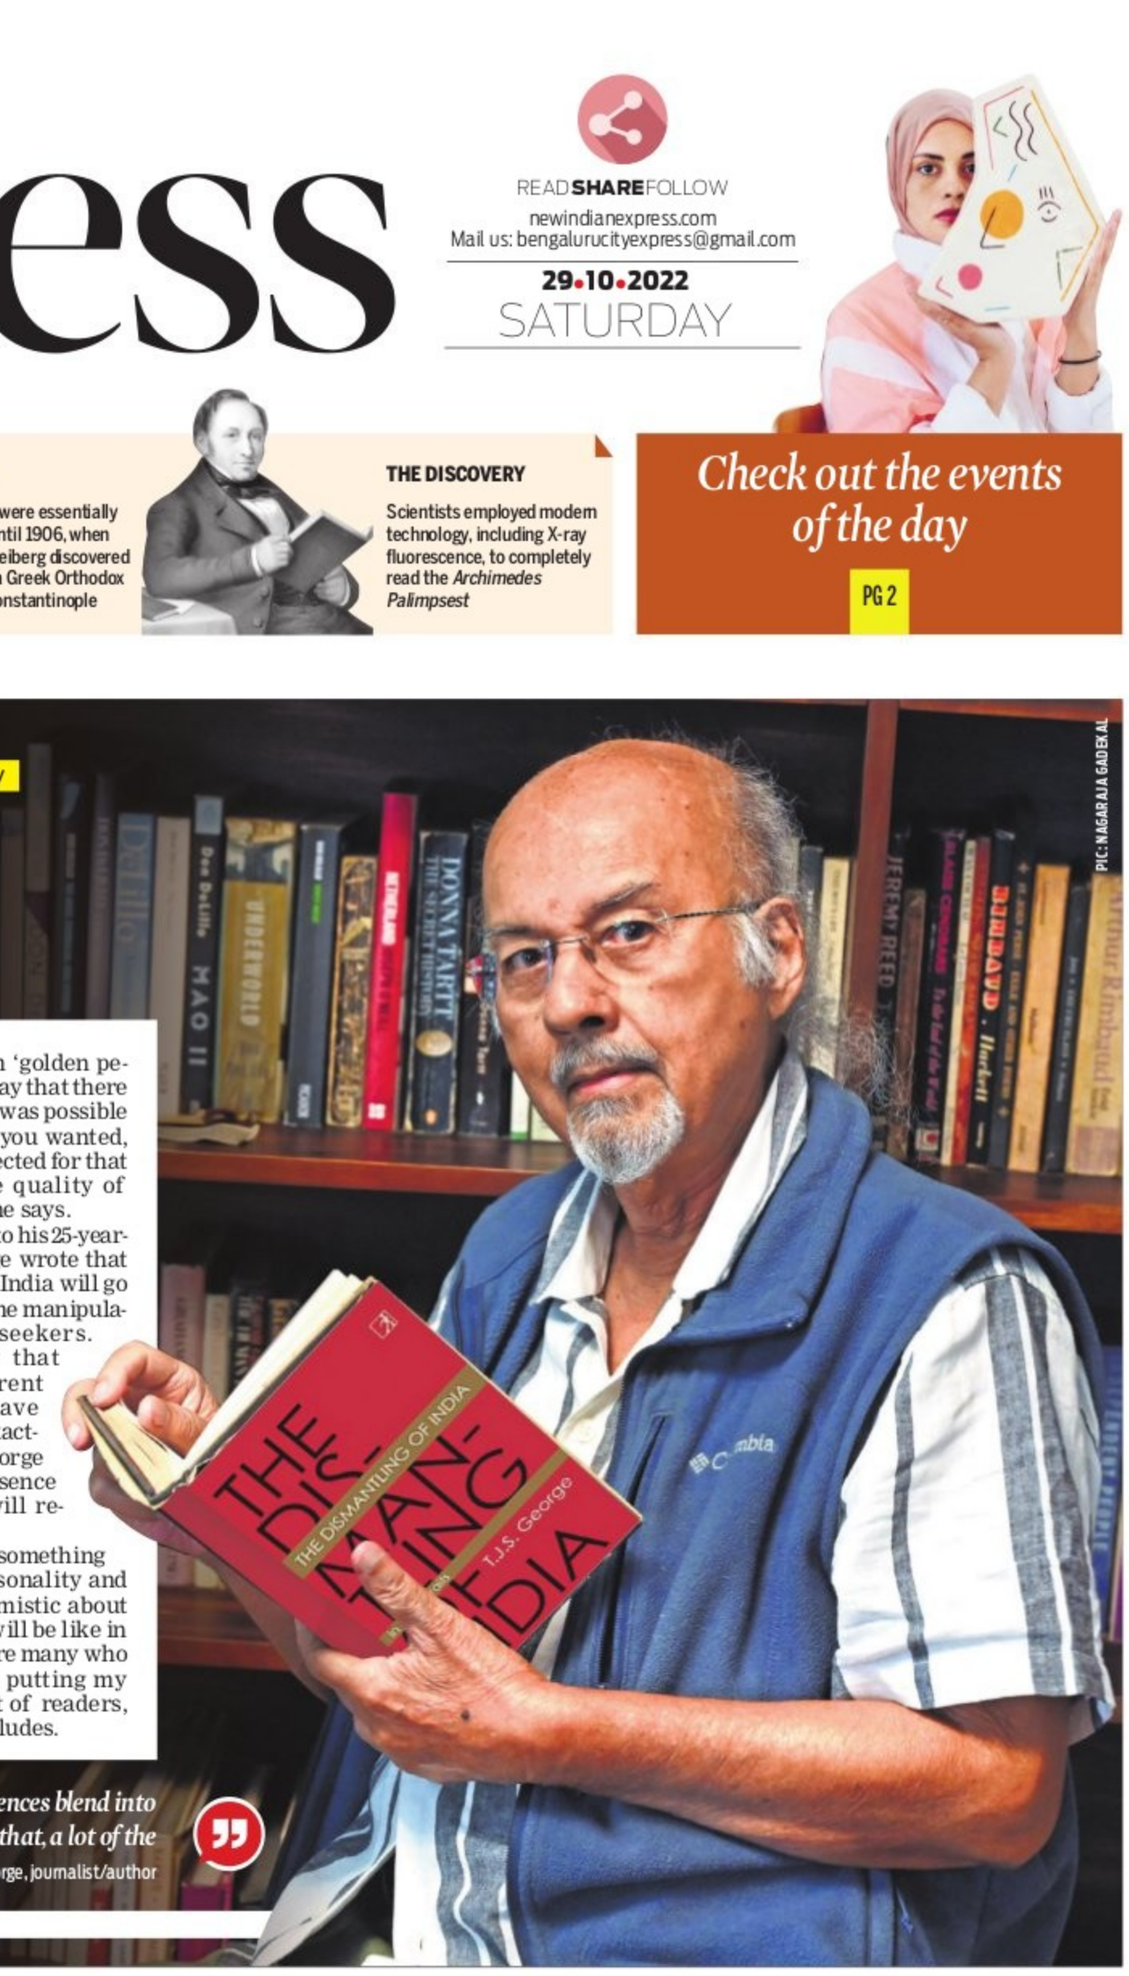
Renowned journalist and author TJS George talks about his new book The Dismantling of India: In 35 Portraits and the socio-political nature of India today

INDIA: CHAPTER 35



PIC: NAGARAJA GADEKAL

TUNIR BISWAS

IN random public sittings, we've all heard someone say that for certain persons some jobs come from within. For renowned newsman and author TJS George, journalism lies in his bones.

Being in the field since 1947, George has been a practitioner of reportage for 75 years. In 2022, he has come out with his new book The Dismantling of India: In 35 Portraits (Simon & Schuster IN), ₹899), where he constructs the history of India through 35 biographical portraits of personalities who have held the nation's attention, for better or for worse. Writing the history of a country, especially one as big and eventful as ours, through the stories of its people is an arduous task. So, how does one go about telling the story of a billion with only 35 folks?

"In my judgement, these 35 people represented the many aspects of India. We're a huge country with a mixture of cultures. I made the choice on the basis of whether they were influential or not in making India as we know it today. For example, I think a man like Veerappan was influential. I may not agree with what he did, but he contributed a certain element to the culture that is India. Hence, he's also in the book," says George, whose book begins with a biographical account of JRD Tata.

He believes that since the idea behind this book had been inside him, he can't give an estimate of how long the working process has been. "I can't say how long it took me to write it as I did not look at it that way. I did not measure it that way. This book had been inside me for a long time, and now it's born," says the Padma Bhushan awardee.

George has been a witness to most of the pertinent events of free India throughout his journalism career. An observer of all the glory and some of the pain. When he was working at The Searchlight in Patna, Bihar, he became the first editor in free India to be charged with sedition for his critical editorials against the then-Bihar Chief Minister K.B. Sahay. But that was during the 1960s. As of 2022, more than half a century later, there have been multiple reports of attacks on Indian journalists. George feels this is a result of particular changes that have happened to the nature of this country.

"My opinion on this is very clear. You look at the difference between Jawaharlal Nehru and Narendra Modi, you'll get your answer. The early years of Independence saw cultural differences blend into one national character about which everybody was proud. Those days are gone. With that, a lot of the things India was proud of are now dead. What we now have is a very different kind of leadership with its own notions of what India is and what it should be. I have no hesitation saying that culturally India has gone backward," says George.

Was there ever a golden period of journalism in India? "I don't like the term 'golden period'. But I would say that there was a time when it was possible to write whatever you wanted, and you were respected for that depending on the quality of what you wrote," he says.

In the final piece to his 25-year-old column, George wrote that the 'the essence of India will go on, unaffected by the manipulations of power-seekers. Many might say that some of the current power-seekers have been trying to do exactly that. So why is George so sure that the essence of this country will remain unaffected?

"Maybe that has something to do with my personality and outlook. I am optimistic about India and what it will be like in the future. There are many who are not. I am just putting my viewpoint in front of readers, that's all," he concludes.

> The early years of Independence saw cultural differences blend into one national character. Those days are gone. With that, a lot of the things India was proud of are now dead – TJS George, journalist/author

Early signs of Mental health issues in children are increasing today'

What are the various issues faced by a child between the age of 3-12 years and what solutions do you have for them?

In children between the ages of 3-5, the most prevalent behaviour problems are excessive tantrums, rough play, refusal to follow instructions at home or school, disrupting classes, excessive display of anger. Some of these issues can also extend as the child grows older until 8 or 9 years. From the age of 6, some signs of anxiety too emerge, and the prevalence increases as the child goes into adolescence. Depression is another condition increasing in children who are in the 11-to-12-year age group. Early signs of Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) in children can show up between 3 to 4 years and 8-9 years.

All mothers work regardless of if the work is at an office or home. We don't see a difference in the mental health of mothers who work in an office compared to stay-at-home moms. What matters is that both parents have a strong influence on the emotional and cognitive growth of a child. A child thrives best when they have a positive and secure relationship with their both parents.

Our CPIP -program is designed for transforming parenting styles and strengthening the parent-child relationship and is aimed at helping behavioural challenges in children between 3 and 8. For older children and parents, outcome-based counselling is what we offer.

We often hear teenagers committing suicide because of failure in exams or getting less marks or not getting admission to a course or college of their choice. What remedy or therapy do you have for them?

To attribute suicide to only the results of an exam or admission into a college is taking a narrow view of a very serious situation. Usually, teens who attempt or die through suicide typically also face different stressors or have other mental health condition. This makes handling issues more difficult.

In our experience, multiple factors build up to an attempt. Academic stress at home, being called out for poor performance in class, being told that not doing well in exams means their future is over, being bullied, having low self-esteem are all strong contributors. Social media too plays a strong part in making a child feel like they aren't successful.

In all cases, the child feels that they cannot turn around the situation in their lives and believe that ending their lives is the only way out. It is important to spot early signs such as, if the child is withdrawing, showing loss of interest in activities they previously enjoyed, displaying self-harming behaviour like cutting. They may even mention suicidal ideas or thoughts to their friends and/or family.

SKOOC

At Skooc, our work with children who have suicidal ideation or active intentions starts with assessments; attachment-based family therapy to help the parents and child relationship; therapy for the child to address their mental state and build coping skills; constant evaluation to address improvement and continuation of care.

What are the most common psychological barriers among employees of large organisations? Do you have individual and group therapies for them?

The major mental health issues we see in the workplace are:

Relationship issues: This refers to poor relationships both personally as well as professional. Not getting along with a partner or a supervisor/peer is causing emotional stress and is resulting in low productivity.

Burnout: An accumulation of stress which is manifesting in physical exhaustion and employees being emotionally drained. They are struggling to stay motivated and perform effectively.

Our work at Skooc focuses on group support for people who would like to understand and improve their relationships with their partners, managers, children etc as well as individual outcome-based therapy for managing mental health issues like stress, depression, separation, divorce and other workplace challenges.

We also run a gadget moderation program where we help both children and adults make measurable changes to their levels of distraction.

What are the psychological issues faced by urban children of Bengaluru compared to those of rural children?

Statistically, there isn't a significant difference in the rate of mental health issues between rural and urban children. High levels of anxiety, bullying, low self-esteem, substance abuse and increased dependence on devices seem to be prevalent almost equally. The difference is that in rural areas parental awareness of mental health issues is low and children don't have easy access to mental health professionals which makes it difficult to get started on condition management.

What do you recommend that parents do?

Three things are important:

1. Make yourself aware of the issues that can affect children.
2. Accept that any child can develop mental health issues, including your child.
3. Follow and attend events on children's mental health so you can spot the signs if any, and take prompt remedial action.

Cocktails in Trend

KARTHICK D
Head Mixologist, 10 Speakeasy

2022 is giving us hopes of normality, of putting the struggles of COVID behind us. All of us are ready to live boldly now and we expect this sentiment to flow into the world of cocktails as well.

Twists on classics to portable drinks, here are trends that will make a splash in 2022! For those of us who frequent trendy bars, a controversial yet very 2022 new trend has found its way onto cocktail menus in only the most avant-garde of venues.

For being able to choose alcohol-free beverages without having to sacrifice flavours, fizz or authenticity. For indulging in a drink without having to abstain completely. For a return to more simplicity with natural and 'clean' products. For drinking less in quantity but better in quality.

There's never been a more exciting time for flavourists in the alcohol drinks industry than now.

Ever since the pandemic began, as consumers started embracing mindful drinking, there's been growing demand for non-alcoholic or low-alcohol variants in a variety of flavours. Alcoholic beverages that offer 'lighter,' innovative taste experiences and leave a positive, adventurous and delightful impact on the mind are seeing more takers. Flavourists feel there's absolutely no limit to creativity when it comes to creating exciting flavours and combinations to quench consumer's thirst for satiety and adventure.

Flavors is one of the fastest growing taste solutions companies which offers an exciting range of flavour solutions for alcoholic and non-alcoholic spirits and liqueurs. Our choice of classic, unique and exotic flavour blends are used in whisky, brandy, gin, wines, malt beverages, vodka, cocktails, premium tonics and more. Our strong capabilities in natural flavouring solutions and innovative technologies in liquid flavour development, strong technical know-how and most importantly creativity sets us apart from other players. Today a greater number of people want to enjoy a composed drink for relaxation without the 'hungover' effect. Adding adaptogenic ingredients like buransh, rosemary, etc. can bring in a meaningful purpose to beverage consumption. 28% consumers are willing to pay more for spirits with unique ingredients.

When we asked more than a dozen bartenders, sommeliers and drinks writers on what the bar industry will look like this fall, their responses formed a landscape that felt oddly familiar: flavour drinks, flavoured spirits and disco? The future, it seems, looks a lot like the past. Midori and Malibu are poised for a comeback while vinyl-spinning DJs are must-haves for any new bar. But alongside these throwbacks, this fall will see an array of exciting new developments. Among them are the long overdue breakout moment for nouvelle ere du gin, a new era for gin and, apparently, smoked bumps with everything.

The trendiest and the most expensive cocktail in town at 10 speakeasy which is equally unique and guess what, it's a millionaire by itself, introducing Millionare Manhattan. The exemplary classic 30-year-old ballantines in coalescence with sette wine and rich luxardo maraschino cherry brine. Stirred over the ice and carefully strained into crystal coupe glass.

Finally garnished with one maraschino cherries, there you have it the elixir of luxury.

Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

ANOTHER year has passed and I have notched up another Diwali and birthday under my belt. The only difference is that now I am too tired to be excited and celebrating, only means more clearing and cleaning to do in its aftermath. The wildly enthusiastic (forwarded) messages get my goat too, because I am old fashioned and there is an almost manic need to answer each one personally. I have become a more 'intimate group, good wine and food soiree' type person. I have to be on performance mode with too many people around, and when people I hardly know screech on top of their lungs to draw attention to themselves, I balk! Unfortunately my ooru abounds with a 'jolly-come-lately' band of interlopers who try to interject themselves into our genteel world with sheer bad manners and deception.

So whenever I get the chance, I jump at an opportunity to participate in a convivial get-together, like the one we were invited to by the genial GM of ITC Windsor Manor Deepak Menezes. One doesn't need an excuse to dine at their signature restaurant Dum Pukht Jolly Nabobs. We have been regulars there for over fifteen years, but, this was a special because we got to meet Deepak's ethereal looking better-half Seema Kulkarni. We sat mesmerized, as the fragrant and delicious Awadhi and North-West Frontier fare rolled out under the watchful eye of Master Chef Srinivas who has helmed the restaurant for many years. Scintillating conversation mixed with heady cocktails and a superlative dinner did make my world go round.

Tanya Joshi

My week only got better as we joined a small group of 'good-food aficionados' for lunch at a newly opened restaurant, 'Travellers Bungalow'. The food was part Georgian/Armenian and I must say that it was a change from the 'pub-grub' that one has gotten used to. The place is eclectic, serving up some great cocktails like Mangrove Sour (raw mangoes and Jalapeño tequila) and the talented Chef Tanya Joshi (Chef Sabyasachi's protégé) looked pleased as punch we tucked into our Georgian Khinkali! My type of afternoon where one is too full to even laugh!

The cherry on my proverbial cake was a gorgeous sunny day spent at the newest hotspot Farmlore, the sustainable 'farm-to-fork' restaurant set amidst lush greenery and vegetable patches. For 'city-slickers' like us, it was the ultimate, in terms of feeling like 'earth-people' again and getting the 'monocratic sustainable warriors' off our backs.

It was a great post-birthday lunch and our hosts Sajai and Sapna Singh went all out to make it memorable. They even had good friend Madhav Sehgal pop in as a surprise guest.

Accept your blessings from the universe. Don't sell the sun to buy a candle.

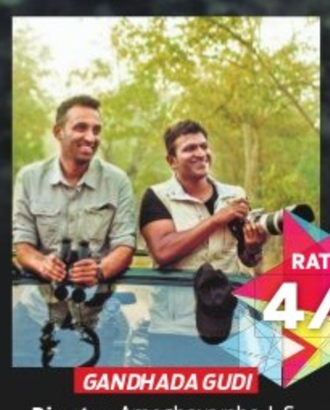
WHEN NATURE BROUGHT APPU BACK

A SHARADHAA

The much-awaited Gandhada Gudi is out, but it comes carrying a mixed bag of emotions and a lot of memories of the beloved Puneeth Rajkumar. The film takes us on a journey into the wild along with him. As it progresses, we not only celebrate the nature, but smile along with Appu, who once again proves his immense screen presence.

By every means, Gandhada Gudi feels like a chance to relive his memories and form an unexplainable and magical relationship with him. The docu-drama begins on an emotional note with Ashwini Puneeth Rajkumar, (who makes her first appearance on the big screen), saying, "Obba sanna huduga, ondu rare hoovigoskara kaadella odadata cinema Bettada Hoovu." (A small boy enters the forest in search of a rare flower in the film Bettada Hoovu) She recalls Appu's journey as a child actor in the shadows of his legendary father Dr Rajkumar and his subsequent rise to fame. Gandhada Gudi was a dream project for Appu. Two days before his demise, he had even posted about the film on social media and was curiously waiting to make a formal announcement about the project to the world. But fate had other plans.



GANDHADA GUDI

RATING 4/5

Director: Amoghavarsha J. S.

Cast: Puneeth Rajkumar, and Amoghavarsha

Accompanied by filmmaker and wildlife photographer Amoghavarsha, the docudrama is nothing short of visual poetry set in the backdrop of the deep woods. Leaving the 'Powerstar' image aside, Appu is a natural on screen. Setting him alongside nature only adds a lot of flavour to this transcendental journey. The expedition begins at Nagarahole where Amoghavarsha started his photography journey 20 years ago.

At the World Tiger Reserve, the award-winning photographer fulfils an excited Appu's dream of getting close to elephants, tigers, deer, and langurs. It is hard to forget Dr Rajkumar family's bond with the forest, and Appu recalls all of it in his father's hometown, Gajanuru. "If you meet someone from Chamarajanagar, they still address Annavru as Devaru," he says. The 1973 film, Gandhada Gudi starring Rajkumar was one of India's first films on forest conservation. Later came Gandhada Gudi Part 2, starring Shivarajkumar. And now, a completely new iteration, with Appu.

From Nagarahole, the film moves to Annavra's town Gajanur, BR Hills, the Deccan region, Tungabhadra river, Malenaadu, and Patagudi among many other locations rich in flora and fauna. Through the journey, Puneeth and Amoghavarsha inform us about the existence of various species, the beauty of the Western Ghats, the vast coastline, and the hills. They even talk about the Kali river, the elephant enclosures, (Sakrebailu, Shivamogga) and scuba diving at Netrani island. Apart from the travel, Appu also imparts a message on conservation and discusses various issues connected to nature. He makes a point about the usage of plastic and its harmful effect on wildlife.

While Puneeth explores the wild, Amoghavarsha gets to know the person that Appu is. The two come up with interesting conversations about life in forests. Both of them are good conversationalists. At one point, Appu shares that he speaks what others want to remember. He recounts his memory as a child actor in Bhakta Prahalada, and why he was afraid of snakes. "There is a scene in the film, where I have a snake around my neck. The snake's breath is still fresh in my ears," he says. The best part of the film is Appu being himself carrying his much-adored simplicity. He eats with shepherds in their huts and eagerly listens to their stories.

With picturesque locales, all captured in natural light, Gandhada Gudi is an applaudable effort from cinematographer Pratheek Shetty. He manages to capture the best moments of Appu in the forest along with spectacular visuals. Ajaneesh Loknath's background music gives the much-needed cinematic elevation to the fulfilling journey in the wild.

The lasting image of a smiling Appu on screen might be the big takeaway from the film, but team Gandhada Gudi ensure that we also take back the core message of this ambitious project and reminds us of the richness of our own nature.

'With no expectations, I'm happy to have come this far'

Sonal Monteiro in conversation with CE discusses in detail about her upcoming film, Banaras

A still from Banaras

CE FEATURES

SONAL Monteiro, who came into the industry with zero expectations, feels blessed about the way her career has shaped up. "I got into the films to fulfill my mother's dream. All I wanted was to do a few films and move on. But with interesting projects coming up, my mom's dream has become my passion. My graph is only increasing, and I hope this continues," says Sonal Monteiro, ahead of the release of her upcoming film, Banaras.

The 15-films-old actor, who has tried to raise the bar with every project, asserts that Jayathirtha's Banaras will further elevate her career. "Being my first pan-India film, Banaras will help me get an audience in other industries too. So, it has become an important film in my career, and I hope it might take me one step higher, However, it all depends on November 4 when the film releases," she says.

Sonal, who got to work with directors like Yogaraj Bhat and Tharun Kishore Sudhir in her career, reveals that Jayathirtha was a name on her bucket list, especially after seeing his work in Bell Bottom. "Going by Jayathirtha's movies, I always knew he valued the heroines and gave them equal space in his films. I trusted him blindly, and my expectations just became higher after the narration. Banaras has so many genres, and everything has been well-packaged into one film that has the best director, best story, best crew, and a solid production house.

Sonal reveals that Banaras has her play a subtle character, which itself was a challenge to her because it was unlike her previous roles. "When I first met Jayathirtha he mentioned that I should be real and not act in front of the camera. To face the camera, and not act isn't easy. I play a de-glam role, which also has a strong message at the centre of it all. My role will connect with everyone, especially women," she says.

Admitting her initial hesitation about working with newcomer Zaid Khan, Sonal says that her opinion changed after working with him. "Working with newcomers never mattered to me because I was once a newcomer too. But with Zaid, I did have second thoughts because he was from a political family, and I didn't know how serious he was with his film career. Initially, we spoke very less but everything changed during the shooting," says Sonal, adding, "If I have to talk about his performance, he definitely doesn't come across as a newcomer. I was stunned by his homework so much that he had not only his dialogues penned, but also had mine and Achyuth Kumar Sir's dialogues written in his book with different colour pens. I have not come across a co-star, who knows his co-actors dialogues by heart. They say 'never judge a book by its cover', but I did it, and my opinion definitely changed. He is a good human being, and we are good friends today," says Sonal.

Sonal is happy to be one of the busiest actors in the Kannada industry. While she waits for the release of Sugar Factory, she is currently juggling between Garadi with hero Yashas Surya, and the Sarojini Naidu biopic. She also has Talwarpete with Vashista Simha, Maadeva starring Vinod Prabhakar, and Buddhivantha 2. She also signed a new film, Operation U, which is set to take off soon. "With no expectations, I'm happy to have come this far. Be it small films or big films, all I want to do is just work," she signs off.
